AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The Standard editor was the guest of C. E. Felker at the quail supper of the Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday School in the banquet hall Tuesday evening, and felt highly honored at being one of the few non-members of this class present.

To the strains of Prof. Paul Slinkard's orchestra the members and guests marched to the banquet hall and were seated and during the evening a number of selections were rendered that were duly appreciated by those present.

George W. Kirk, who was recently elected president of the class, was master of ceremonies, and performed that duty in a masterly way. A song, prayer by Rev. Self, and the banquet was on. Each plate contained a liberal helping of chicken pie, a quail, candied sweet potatoes, slaw and pickles on the side, with coffee and rolls and pie. To follow were a number of sincere and feeling talks from those responsible for this wonderful Bible class of men. Many nice things were said about Mr. Greer, president for many years, and Mr. Denman, the teacher, after which they were called on to defend themselves which they did to the entire satisfaction of all present. Both confessed to their part in the organization of this class and both confessed they were proud to have had this honor.

Hon. Rush Limbaugh, of Cape Girardeau, was the last speaker on the program and gave a mighty good talk, told of the life of a Missouri poet, Eugene Fields, of the painting of Little Boy Blue in the capitol at Jefferson City, told of the inspiration that caused him to write the lines of that beautiful poem and repeated same. To us it touched a tender spot.

The toastmaster thanked almost everyone present for the part taken in making this entertainment one of the most pleasant ever, asked some outside visitors, and a lot and stray from Sikeston to stand and be introduced.

Having never attended a session of the Bible Class, and not being a member of any Bible class, we felt a hesitancy in accepting the invitation so kindly extended, but more than glad that we were there, and will confess that the splendid music, the pretty waitresses, the handsome hostesses at the speaker's table, the feeling and inspiring talks, the wonderful banquet, brought a feeling to our heart that perhaps we should be one of the number trying to better the condition of our fellow man as well as ourselves.

The only thing to cast a pale over the occasion was the sad news of the death of the beloved wife of one of the organizers of the Men's Bible Class, Mrs. J. A. Hess. Some beautiful tributes were paid to her memory, to her character, and her family, by those who knew her most intimately.

We are informed that certain brand of shoes have been sold to employees of the International Shoe Co. as lines manufactured by the International Co. that were falsely represented and were not produced by any branch of the International Corporation. This is a fraud that should not be practiced on employees of the International who receive their bread and butter from that source and want to return the favor by wearing shoes manufactured by the International Shoe Co.

It was a surprise to us to learn that sales of International Shoes had increased so little since the splendid display made in this city the past summer. This is due mostly to our merchants for not pushing shoes made by the International. It should be the duty of the citizens of Sikeston and this trade territory to call for, and demand, the International product. Why are we so interested in this one manufactured line is easily explained. There is no better shoe made, their payroll has kept Sikeston to the fore as the best city in Southeast Missouri and the one least affected by the depression. The payroll of the International Shoe Company is responsible for this condition. Their payroll amounts to around $45,000 every 22 days and nearly every dollar of this money passes through the tills of Sikeston business concerns. Don't you think it should be the duty of every one to wear International Shoes, demand International Shoe and get International Shoes? A number of Sikeston firms handle lines manufactured by the International Shoe Co. and the sizes can be secured in a few hours if not in stock. Let's double our purchases the coming year and show the officials of the International Shoe Co. that we appreciate their payroll.

Complaint has been made to Sheriff Joe Anderson of numerous gambling joints being set up in the neighborhood of Sikeston. Sheriff Anderson wishes to notify the operators of these so-called clubs, or joints, that he proposes to close every one of them and lock the operators in jail if he can secure the evidence. Those who complain of such joints should produce the evidence if they expect the law to act. The sheriff has to have some cooperation to make a case and break up gambling joints.

Mr. Wallace Crossley of the Warrensburg Star-Journal, T. Ballard Watters of the Marshfield Mail and Paul C. Jones of the Kennett Democrat were elected members of the Board of Directors.

Reports of all Committees. The Missouri Legislature was called upon in a resolution adopted by the Missouri Press Association to pass necessary legislation to carry out Gov. Guy B. Park's relief program.

The resolution was adopted at the closing session of the meeting. The editors also voiced approval of a proposed $15,000,000 bond issue for rehabilitating the state's eleemosynary institutions as urged by the Governor.

This action was taken after Gov. Park addressed the Association Friday evening and asked Missouri publishers to support his legislative program.

The Association also approved the National Editorial Association's demand for a forty-hour week and instructed the Association's representatives to sign no code applicable to small town newspapers that does not provide for a week of at least forty hours.

It also voted to oppose any code for newspapers that would infringe upon freedom of the press.

The resolution supporting the Governor's program was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Following this adoption the meeting was adjourned, and members enjoyed the American Royal Live Stock Show in the afternoon.

Conoco Bus Here

Sikeston caught the first hand glimpse Wednesday of one of the big red, green and white Conoco Travel Bureau buses now touring the country for the purpose of increasing vacation travel to this area, as well as to thousands of other points in America noted for their scenic or historical interest. In a special interview, Marshall Dana, commander of the bus, told The Sikeston Standard that, as far as the Travel Bureau is concerned, tourist traffic throughout North America during 1933 has broken all previous records.

According to Dana, tourist groups served by the Bureau during 1933 have far exceeded the figure for last year. The 1932 total was 143,997 trips, while those recorded so far this year have already passed the 183,000 mark.

These groups represented every state, as well as Mexico and every province in Canada. Of the 183,000 a total of 53,000 groups were routed into or through Missouri, and in addition 15,000 groups living within the state were given assistance. Included in the latter figure were many groups from Sikeston.

Members of the bus personnel, which also includes a number of Continental Oil Company officials in charge of the marketing division covering this area, spent some time gathering information about local points of interest. This information, in turn, will be included in literature which the Bureau mails to thousands of tourists.

The Conoco Travel Bureau, Dana explained, has grown, in four years' time, from a small branch serving a few hundred people to the largest organization of its type in America. It was founded by Continental in response to the demands of motor vacationists and to certain they are taking direct, trouble-free routes to their destinations and yet see the most interesting sights found in the country they journey through.

The Bureau's second major aim is to increase tourist travel to all of the nation's scenic regions. Through approximately 18,000 company and dealer service stations and hundreds of newspapers, hotels and chamber of commerce, the Bureau is distributing attractive maps and literature featuring this city and its surroundings, as well as numberless other interesting points in America.

This unusual service to which every motorist is entitled without spending a cent—even for postage—goes far beyond literature distribution. In the Bureau's central office in Denver, more than a hundred carefully trained employees consult daily road reports from every state in the Union; note even the shortest detours, and incorporate this information into the routes they mark on all maps sent out.

Motorists who apply for free Travel Bureau service also receive a special "Passport" which helps them keep a careful expense record of their trips, identifies them wherever they may be and secures additional privileges for them at all Conoco stations. Each station acts as a field branch of the Bureau and is prepared to furnish valuable local information to all tourists. All cottage camps and hotels throughout the country have been cataloged and described in free literature now being sent out by the Bureau.

Conoco officials accompanying Dana were O. B. Lloyd, assistant general sales manager from Ponca City, Okla.; C. M. Reed, assistant division manager of Kansas City, Mo.; Chas. Bedwell, district superintendent, and H. E. Blackburn.

The Conoco bus is equipped with special loud speakers which make it possible to broadcast radio and phonograph music, as well as announcements made by the bus commander, for almost a mile in any direction.

Free Conoco Travel Bureau service to all readers of The Standard and may be secured by writing direct to the Bureau's office in Denver, Colo., or filling out special application cards distributed by all Conoco service stations and dealers.

The gentlemen with the travel bus dined with the Lions at noon Wednesday where they gave a talking picture, "Through Conoco-land."

REV. OREAR TO BROADCAST MORNING SERMON

On next Sunday, the morning services at the local Methodist Church will be broadcasted over Station KFVS, Cape Girardeau, from 10:50 to 12:00 o'clock.

Injured Man Suffering From Loss of Memory

A young man about 25 years old who gave his name as Wilbur Arnold Rockwell of St. Louis, was brought to the Emergency Hospital Tuesday afternoon suffering from a badly cut left wrist and partial loss of memory. He was found on a side road east of Highway 61 about three miles north of here about 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by a farmer who passed in his car and saw the man lying in the road. The farmer brought the man here to the hospital immediately.

Attendees at the hospital were of the opinion that the man attempted suicide by cutting the arteries in his arms but fainted after he had cut his left arm. An express receipt in his billfold showed that W. F. Rockwell had shipped a bag or parcel weighing about 11 pounds from St. Louis to himself at New Orleans. As the man gave that name it is probable that he was hobnobbing or hitch hiking to the southern city. The man could not recall any town where he had been in the past but St. Louis. He did not know when he had last been there. He could not explain how he was injured or how he came to be on the side road. He stated that he might have attempted suicide but could not imagine why he should try to do so.

He said that his father, a stationary engineer, resided on Springdale Ave. near Natural Bridge Road in St. Louis.

Two Young Forgers Taste Quick Justice

Everett Brown, of Memphis and Clarence Deal, of Noxall, are in jail at Benton awaiting sentence on a charge of forgery.

Brown and Deal attempted to pass a $25 check on W. J. White, farmer of Matthews, at the Grubbers store here Tuesday afternoon. The two men gave a clerk the check in payment for a jacket. The check was taken to the Bank of Sikeston by Mr. Graber while the men waited. Bank employees pronounced the check a forgery and upon the request of Graber notified a deputy constable who arrived at the store and arrested the men soon after Graber returned and before they had time to leave.

Both youths pleaded guilty to the charge and were taken to Benton where they will be sentenced by the circuit court which is now in session.

Brown and Deal were each sentenced to two years in the penitentiary when they appeared before the court Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ella Hess Passes Away Early Tuesday

Mrs. Ella Kochitzky Hess, beloved wife of Dr. J. A. Hess of this city, quietly passed away at the family residence on Park avenue early Tuesday morning after an illness of a very short time of heart trouble. Mrs. Hess had complained of her heart bothering her on Monday, and was feeling so bad that she did not arise Tuesday morning. Death came about 10 o'clock that morning.

Mrs. Hess was born near Danville, Ill., on September 11, 1861, and was the daughter of Oscar and Caroline Kochitzky. In 1888 she came to Missouri with her parents, where most of her girlhood was spent in New Madrid and Jefferson City. On September 2, 1885, at Jefferson City she was married to James Albert Hess, and to this union five children were born, all of whom survive.

In February of 1889 she moved with her family to Sikeston where she has become a citizen loved and respected by all who came in contact with her.

Mrs. Hess has been an active member of the Methodist church for fifty years. She was a charter member of the local W. C. T. U., the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, the Woman's Club and the Eastern Star chapter, and has, at times, been active in all of these organizations. She was the first teacher of the Woman's Bible Class of the Methodist church where she taught for many years.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church with Rev. E. H. Orear, pastor, in charge. Interment was made in Memorial Park Cemetery, Dempster in charge. Out of town relatives who attended the funeral were Mrs. W. E. Merritt and Wilbur Kochitzky of Mount Airy, N. C.; Otto Kochitzky, Miss Mary Kochitzky and Mr. and Mrs. John Kochitzky of Cape Girardeau and Mrs. Elise Bird and Wade Kochitzky of Malden.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. J. A. Hess; four daughters, Mrs. Eva Reed of Sparks, Nev.; Mrs. Helen Osburn of Denison, Texas, and Misses Caroline and Isabella Hess of this city; one son, Harold C. Hess of Phoenix, Ariz.; four grandchildren, Marjorie, Edward and Eleanor Reed and Jimmie Osburn; one sister, Mrs. W. E. Merritt of Mount Airy, N. C.; four brothers, Otto Kochitzky and John Kochitzky of Cape Girardeau, E. H. and Wilbur Kochitzky of Mount Airy, N. C. Two uncles, J. H. Schilder of Anthony, Kan., and Alfred Schilder of Kansas City, Kan., also survive.

MARRIAGE LICENSE INCITED ASSAULT

Deafy Badges, colored and one time employee of the International Shoe Factory here, decided to marry the lady of his heart so he secured the license Tuesday night and went to the girl friend to present his most original idea. Joe Fields, also colored, had an equally strong feeling for a gal. As you probably have already guessed the two gals were not two but one and the same dark-skinned mamma.

Under the circumstances the situation as you doubtless will agree called for action, so friend Joe Fields upheld his role nobly and proceeded to furnish same.

Said action resulted itself into various and sundry violent slashes with a dull but very effective knife. At the conclusion of the most admirable climax Deafy Badges relentlessly made known the fact that the operations with the knife had hurt him deeply, very deeply in several places about the head and shoulders.

At present Joe Fields is in the Benton jail and very seriously in danger of being removed from the field of conquest on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Badges lies in his bed of pain wondering if he will recover and considering the various distasteful aspects of courtship.

The colored gal who made the mistake of trying to be the light of two men's hearts at one and the same time seems to be hibernating for the present at a safe distance.

'33 College Graduates O. K.

Reports coming from various schools show that Sikeston High School graduates are starting off well as Freshmen all over the nation, with particularly strong grades being made in English, Mathematics and French.

A letter from the Chairman of the English Department of Northwestern University congratulates the local high school faculty on the high quality of their English teaching, since our graduate was one of the few highest as shown by a test, able to skip the first semester work and do the second upon entrance.

At Westminster the boys have a majority of grades above 90 with a 98 in mathematics. At Central the girls are making M plus and S's. From Tennessee schools come good reports from Sikeston on the Dean's Honor Roll at Ward-Belmont, and at the top in history at Cumberland. Down on the Gulf Coast there are high marks for one in the role of assistant on the school publication. At other places they are found doing satisfactory work.

Some have not been heard from, but on the whole the records are "tracking" with records in high school.

In Sikeston many graduates of the high school are holding im-

75 Million Club Hosts at Saint Louis

(By C. L. Blanton, Jr.)

Major C. L. Malone, president of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce; John G. Powell, secretary of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce, and C. L. Blanton, Jr., president of the Sikeston Lions Club, as guests of the Seventy-five Million Club, accompanied W. L. Hutters, who is a member of the Progress Club, to St. Louis Thursday for the November monthly meeting of the Progress Club of the International Shoe Company.

An invitation was extended to the officials of the civic organizations in the towns in the state of Missouri, Illinois Kentucky and Arkansas in which they have located manufacturing plants.

After a very fine meal served in the ball room of the Hotel Statler at six o'clock, the meeting was called to order by the president of the Progress Club, with the program as follows:

Mr. C. E. Osterkamp, secretary of the Seventy-five Million, reported on the results of this club during its first year of organization. The results were very favorable, and made us proud of lots of towns which are assisted in supporting their cities by the International Shoe Company, but we were greatly ashamed of our own local community when it failed to increase its sales of International shoes as much as thirty per cent.

Mr. H. E. Jenkins, manager of the Hannibal factory, made a talk on "The First Seventy-five Million Club Demonstration and Its Effects." W. F. D. Batjer, secretary of the Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce, made a talk on "What the Seventy-five Million Club Means to a Community."

In our opinion, Mr. Batjer strayed considerable distance from his subject, and if we could read correctly, between the sentences, his was a plea that the International code to operate the Cape Girardeau factory at full capacity regardless of the labor troubles which they are now having. His plea ended with the statement that whatever labor troubles they were having were being amicably settled, which sounded all right, but, apparently, did not convince Mr. Rand.

Next was Mr. C. P. Shay, superintendent of the Mexico factory, with his idea of the "Closer Cooperation of Employees as a Result of the Seventy-five Million Club," and the program called for Mr. R. O. Rumer of the legal department to close the evening with "That Finer Relationship."

The pleasant surprise of all who attended was that part of the program which was not scheduled in advance, and that was the presence of Mr. Frank Rand chairman of the Board of Directors of the world's greatest shoe manufacturing concern. Mr. Rand stated in words which sounded good to us that because of the rashness of a few members who were considered big men in industry, that all industry need hang its head in shame on their account.

Mr. Rand reported the progress made by the International Shoe Company since the contracting for their first factory in Hannibal up to date. We, to give you a clearer idea of the exact words of Mr. Rand, reproduce a part of the editorial run in the Southeast Missourian of last Monday which is as follows:

"Then Mr. Rand concluded with some remarks that drew the breathless attention of every man in the room. Mr. Rand spoke of the efforts that are being made to keep the factories busy and the policies of the company. Only genuine leather is ever used. No substitutes are ever permitted. And so the business has grown from a small beginning to the largest in the world, headed by a man who thinks before he speaks and then does exactly what he says."

"Mr. Rand said it has always been the policy of his company to run its own business and then with special emphasis he said in effect that 'we intend to continue this policy. We will run our business ourselves and will not permit anyone else to run it for us. When we can't run our own business we will quit.'"

"He had explained that the NRA now regulates working conditions and sets a minimum wage so that no worker can be imposed upon. There is no argument over wages or hours, so if there is to be any argument over the management of the factories, if groups are to attempt to dictate how the factories shall be operated, Mr. Rand makes it clear that the factories will be closed. That he means exactly what he says, and that he will do as he says, needs no discussion whatever."

The consensus of opinion of all Sikestonians who attended this meeting that they would sincerely appreciate an invitation from the Progress Club to be with them again at some future date.

THE MAYOR'S OF BRIGHTON, England, states that ten years hence nudity will be the style at all bathing resorts. Now we know we were born fifty years too soon.

Institute On Public Welfare In Chaffee Saturday and Sunday

There will be an institute on public welfare held in Chaffee, Saturday and Sunday, November 25 and 26, for the training of case workers for unemployment relief work, volunteer social service workers and for the explanation of all relief projects. All persons interested in welfare work and social service are cordially invited to attend the sessions.

Registration will commence at 8:30 Saturday morning, the 25th, at the City Hall in Chaffee.

There will be no charges for this course, and government instructors and relief workers will be on hand to arrange a program which will be announced later. This will not interfere with church services in any way, as it is planned that the morning services in one of the churches contain a sermon by one of the local ministers on the religious aspect of the unemployment situation, to which all of those attending the institute will be invited to attend.

It is expected that quite a few volunteer relief workers over Southeast Missouri will come to this institute, and an instructive course in social service and public welfare will be given.

The institute will be conducted along the lines of the one held in Columbia Mo., the first of this week for the entire state, and will be supplemental to the training and instruction given at that institute, except that it will deal with individual workers. The one held at Columbia dealt with district workers.—Chaffee Signal.

CIRCUIT COURT NEWS

Early Glenn, fugitive from justice for the past ten months, who was recently captured at Wilson, Ark., and was accompanied to Benton Tuesday by Joe Anderson, Sheriff of Scott county, Wednesday pleaded guilty to a charge of burglarizing the Otto Schoen Store at Fornefelt last January, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Elmer Teague, who was charged with being with Glenn, also pleaded guilty to the same charge, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Little Wolf, colored youth of this vicinity, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in circuit court Wednesday and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The youth is alleged to have entered a home on Ethel Street about 4 o'clock on the morning of last August 21, and attacking Mrs. Howard Dunaway trained nurse, who was at that time nursing Bobby Ralph in the home of his grand-parents. After

We have always held out stoutly for our friends, the scientists, but it would seem there is a point beyond which they should cease prying into nature's secrets. Unless this point is reached soon, catastrophe awaits us. A recent dispatch from Detroit states that Dr. Kamm, experimenting on glandular extracts, is perfecting a chemical solution which will enable fathers to take turn about with mothers suckling their children. Experiments with cats show, says Dr. Kamm, that in two days after an injection of this solution a tom cat with healthy lactal glands was able to suckle kittens. If we were a young fellow we'd run out on this game. Nothing is more certain if it succeeds, than that eventually the male of the human species will have motherhood literally thrust upon him and will be receiving tender letters from grown sons and daughters, absent from the maternal proof, on Mother's Day. Also candy and flowers and pin cushions. In other words, they will also be having the babies as well as nursing them if a sacrilegious curiosity is allowed to continue. The question confronting us, gentlemen, is will they be worth the price?—Paris Mercury.

Well, the name of the new Russian ambassador appeared in the papers today, and it just about took up all the paper. It's Alexander Antonovich Trovanovsky. That's an alphabetic rhapsody in vowels and consonants. But they don't put much over on Mr. Roosevelt, he sent 'em a guy named Bullitt. That was just a kind of subtle hint.—Will Rogers.

Mrs. T. A. Cunningham will receive free one package of Swans Down Biscuit Mix if she will call at The Standard office for same.

There are some gentlemen in the Missouri Capital City running for United States Senator or Governor or even re-election to their present office, who imagine they are building up a constituency by trying to tear down the leadership already selected by Missouri Democracy. With little evident consideration for the maintenance of the great party that is in power, in state and nation, they seem deliberately trying to wreck it in their endeavor to achieve their own aggrandizement. They are following the tactics inaugurated by another excellent gentleman, who probably would have been governor of Missouri, today, but for his efforts to build himself up at the expense of the leadership of his own party. It will never do gentlemen. Our Governor and our President are earnestly trying to pull us from the mire into which we have been sunk by the tactics of the past twelve years, and the overwhelmingly majority of Missouri's voters are resenting and will continue to resent the efforts of any aggrieved politician to belittle these endeavors. Governor Park entered office with the entire confidence, not only of his own party but thousands of the opposition. No one doubts his integrity. He has not betrayed a single Democratic principal and is earnestly striving in the interest of the people of the state. Recognition of him as the leader of his party will not weaken the standing of a single aspirant to further office. Recognitions of the interests opposing him will be fatal to the individual and harmful to the Democratic party.—LaPlata Home Press.

HOME ECONOMICS BUREAU HEAD LISTS ACTIVITIES

Washington, Nov. 18.—Louise Stanley, charming chief of the bureau of home economics of the United States department of agriculture, has reported her activities for the year ending June 30, 1933, to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. These are some of the things that kept her busy:

Discovering how many vitamins there are in eggs, wheat and lettuce.
 Testing lards and cotton seed oil as fundamental ingredients of hot biscuits.
 Measuring the strength (tensile) of eggs.
 Finding out how long roast leg of lamb should be roasted to make it tender, yet juicy, yet done.
 Experimenting with potatoes to see why some turn dark and some don't when boiled.
 Developing a method of frying carrot chips.

Continuing a 3-year study of jelly juices.
 Planning budgets for housewives.

Learning that laundries do not contribute to the wearing out of cotton sheets to any grave degree.
 Proving that a good linen table cloth may be laundered at least 200 times without disintegrating.

New Madrid County Superintendent's News

Miss Estelle Smith, Farrenburg School, gave a box supper a short time ago which netted $24.00. In these times when incidental funds are scarce, a small fund created by such means helps to buy many small items that the school needs.

We note that Mrs. Elode M. Davis has resigned from the Marston High School, Lemuel S. Bolinger from the Parma High School and Richard Moore from the Gideon High School. Walter Ford of Cape Girardeau is the new teacher at Parma and Denver Clubb succeeds Mr. Moore at Gideon.

This makes a total of five resignations in the schools of New Madrid county this term and the year is yet young. We wonder what will happen along the latter part of the term when many teachers will begin to get scraps of paper on pay day.

In fact, many teachers have already received warrants this year that cannot be redeemed now. A teacher called at the office yesterday who was disturbed over the fact that he had received cash for only half of his work this term. He was promised only $480 for the year's work and with a family to support this is little enough even when paid in full.

In fact, the lowest paid labor under the NRA program gets 30 percent more than this. And, too, we must remember that the cost of living is going up and that a teacher must buy everything he uses just as the laborer in the industrial center.

Last year many teachers patriotically finished terms of school without pay, and we urged them to do this trusting that the legislature would see that their patience was rewarded with jobs this year that paid a living wage.

But instead of provisions for more state aid this year, we are calmly told that it will be still further decreased—and the legislature still commits the sin of omission.

Governor Park asked the legislature in the regular session last winter to provide for schools but they turned a deaf ear. Again on October 17 at the opening of the special session Governor Park made it clear to the legislature that the schools were facing a crisis and included a definite solution along with the problem.

A month has passed and nothing has been done for the schools. Our citizens who have children of school age should demand an explanation.

We note that one of the above mentioned teachers resigned to take a position behind a counter as meat chopper at a salary better than he was receiving for teaching in high school. Does this condition not alarm your peace of mind?

Next to the ministry, teaching is the highest of all professions involving serious responsibilities and demanding men and women of outstanding characteristics. And yet after a teacher has invested his time and money to prepare for this glorious profession and then finds it more profitable to step out of the profession to be a mere meat chopper, he must be squelched with utter disgust and his senses must be enshrouded with bitter disappointment when he thinks of the statesmen of our great state refusing to assume their responsibility—and with the unconcerned attitude of Nero who added while Rome burned.

If we owned a laboratory of expensive sensitive instruments we would employ the best talent to handle them knowing that an untrained person might do serious damage in handling these delicate instruments. And yet our statesmen are willing for the most delicate instrument in the universe—the child's mind—to be handled and trained by persons receiving less salary than a mere clerk that sells beefsteak and bologna.

And unless the trend is changed the efficiency of our schools is going to be impaired as sure as we breathe for the best teachers will eventually reach the limit of their patience and endurance and forsake the profession they have learned to love.

This deterioration will be so gradual that parents will not even suspect it for they will be prone to think that all is well as long as Johnnie comes home with a report card exhibiting good grades, not realizing that the weakest teacher can write down a grade as high as she chooses even though it does belie the actual status of the child's progress. We cannot forever starve the schools without suffering from the resulting degeneration which in turn affects our civilization, to which the school gave birth and fostered.

RESTORED ST. SOPHIA MOSAICS UNVEILED AFTER 500 YEARS

Istanbul, Nov. 20.—Mosaics of the Mosque of St. Sophia were unveiled yesterday by Thomas Whittemore, director of the American Byzantine Institute, in the presence of the Turkish Minister of Education.

As a result of two years of cleaning and restoration, the sixth and ninth century mosaics were revealed just as they were created.

The greatest ninth century mosaic in the world was disclosed above the Naoin portal. It represents Christ seated on a golden throne which is encrusted with emeralds and pearls. Emperor Leo VI is kneeling before Him and medallions of the Virgin Mary are on the right and the Angel Gabriel on the left.

The St. Sophia mosaics have been hidden, covered over with plaster and whitewash, since the capture of Constantinople by the Mohammedan Turks in 1453.

Mrs. Edgar Carrouthers, R. 3, will receive free one package of Swans Down Biscuit Mix if she will call at The Standard office for same.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams and children and Mrs. Frank Williams spent Thursday at Cape Girardeau with the former's sister and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Homer Watson and family.

Mrs. Forrest Watson and Mrs. E. A. Harbin shopped in Cape, Wednesday.

W. R. McDonough returned Friday night after a few weeks work in the Frisco offices at Springfield.

An operetta was presented last Thursday night at the gym by the third and fifth grades with Mrs. Harold Perdue and Mrs. Grace Ford, the teachers in charge. A trip to Flowerland was the subject and extra numbers on the program included tap dancing by Bobby Gene Foster and a musical reading by Camille Emerson.

Mrs. H. B. Ferguson, Jr., of Piggott, Ark., came up Saturday to be with her husband who is visiting at the Marvin Gibbs home. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelly of Cape Girardeau were business visitors in this vicinity Wednesday.

GRAVITY 65.6 TO 72.4

That's how high Phillips HIGH TEST is!

Instead of high-sounding words about high test, Phillips gives you evidence as simple and convincing as "2 and 2 make 4."

The gravity of Phillips 66—usually called the "test"—is printed above in plain figures. You can see for yourself how high they are. And that is exactly what you don't see in other gasoline ads. The next time you read the phrase "high test" elsewhere, just look for the gravity figures—if any!

These figures are your guarantee of real action for every penny you spend on gasoline... your guarantee of the biggest value in motor fuels... your guarantee of honest high test.

Phill-up with Phillips and you will quickly get results which prove there is a difference in gasoline! You will enjoy the new speed and ease of starting. The quick warm-up and eager acceleration. The added power and mileage. And not the faintest ping or knock, even if you jam down the gas—because high test Phillips 66 is also high anti-knock.

All of these good qualities are preserved and protected by the Phillips method of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY. Fifty above or ten below zero, whatever your weather, every gallon of Phillips 66 is scientifically matched to it in advance. So you always get a gas which delivers the peak of performance.

Make the test today. Convince yourself and start saving money. Just stop for one trial tankful at the nearest Orange and Black shield.

Mrs. Lutie Leslie returned home Wednesday from a visit at Fredricktown with her son, R. H. Leslie and family.

Frank Hewitt was called to Oklahoma, Thursday, by the death of his father. Mr. Hewitt is a brother of Mrs. C. H. Gibson and moved to Missouri this fall to operate Mr. Gibson's farm and the latter family moved to Oklahoma City. Dece Mize made the trip to Oklahoma with Mr. Hewitt.

Miss Marjorie Leslie of Cape Girardeau came down Saturday for a week end visit with her cousin, Nancy Leslie.

Mrs. M. E. Norden of Sikeston was an all-day guest of Mrs. L. L. Hunter, Friday.

The Baptist Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. Lutie Leslie Wednesday afternoon for a school of instruction in charge of Mrs. S. J. Estes of Charleston and her committee. All Baptist ladies are urged to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Chaney of St. Louis were Morley visitors Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. T. G. Craft of Bernie visited friends here Sunday. Rev. Craft was formerly pastor of the M. E. church.

The Morley Study Club was entertained by Mrs. L. Daugherty and Mrs. C. A. Stallings at the home of the latter Friday afternoon. Fifteen members answered to roll call with a quotation from an American writer. Splendid reports were given of the 9th District Convention by Mrs. Rex Boyce and Mrs. Vernon Laval. The program on American Citizenship was led by Mrs. Anna Beardslee with papers given by Mrs. U. G. Ragains and Mrs. H. F. Emerson and a poem by Mrs. Lutie Leslie. The club is offering a prize this year to the grade school and to the high school for the best book report in each. A plate lunch was served by the entertaining ladies at the conclusion of the program.

he gave St. Louis a high example of sound, conservative banking, and wound up the affairs of the bank with a loss of only $125 compared to tens of thousands of losses of some other branches that had to liquidate. J. Ray Cable, economist, said that "John O'Fallon deserves to be remembered as perhaps Missouri's first teacher of sound banking principles."

Meanwhile the wealth of O'Fallon was growing rapidly, and apiece with the increase of his fortune was the increase in the number of his benefactions. Among his public gifts were the site of the old St. Louis water works, the site of the first Methodist Church on Fourth Street, the endowment of O'Fallon Polytechnic Institute, contributions to Washington University, the site of St. Louis University, the site for the Home of the Friendless, and O'Fallon Park. So numerous were the public and private contributions of the St. Louis man during his own lifetime, that the Episcopal Bishop, Hawks, preaching his funeral sermon in 1865, said that O'Fallon had been, in effect, his own executor. By 1860 it was estimated that O'Fallon had already bestowed more than a million dollars in philanthropic projects.

Among O'Fallon's friends were presidents and others in high official life. He was the personal friend of Presidents Harrison and Taylor, and knew Clay, Cass, Benton, Calhoun, Grant and many others. He was interested in the development of railroads and was president of the Ohio and Mississippi, later Baltimore and Ohio, and of the North Missouri. Lamented by the entire city in which he had spent the greater part of his life, O'Fallon passed away at his home on Washington avenue on December 17, 1865. Mrs. O'Fallon, who lived until 1898, and several children, survived the beloved Missouri benefactor.

GAME AND FISH NEWS

One of the largest deer reported shot during the recent three-day open season in Missouri is an eleven point buck brought down by W. H. McNichol of St. Louis, 20 miles northeast of Salem in Dent County. It weighed 280 lbs. and was his three times at a distance of 110 yards.

Price McGaugh and Ed Pugh of near Bethany, report that two duck hunters last week killed 25 tame mallard ducks belonging to them. This seems to have been a sorry season for decoys as numerous such reports have been received. The mallards were disappearing themselves on the waters of East Big Creek not far from the Pugh home, when they were come upon by a pair of hunters looking for the wild kind.

"In the spring, summer and fall the upland and song birds destroy an incalculable number of destructive insects but you must give birds assistance during the winter months. A few hills of corn, a few shocks of grain left after the harvest for the feathered friends to eat this winter will pay generous and lasting returns to the farmer," a bulletin to this Department states.

The season on furbearers opened November 15th; wild turkey season opens December 1; squirrel season closes November 30th.

Walter Pinson claims the distinction of having creoled two bass on one cast while angling on Bull Creek, south of Springfield, the other day.

The jack salmon season has opened on the Sac-Osage Lake at Osceola, according to Dr. F. H. Riley. Several have caught their limit and the jacks have begun to "click," he writes.

It cost a St. Charles, Mo., hunter $35 recently to kill a pheasant. The hunter was taken before a Justice of the Peace at Wentzville, near where he was hunting. In Missouri there are no open seasons for killing pheasants. According to a report a large number of pheasants are in St. Charles county, especially in Callaway township, according to the Washington Citizen.

Wilbur C. Buford, State Game & Fish Commissioner, and Dr. G. B. Herndon, chief of hatcheries, have accepted an invitation to address a meeting of the Fish, Game and Forest League at Kansas City on the night of November 27th. Changes that have taken place in the department, especially with reference to the discontinuance of pheasant propagation and the reduction of the number of trout propagated, will be discussed.

Leslie S. Bean, Missouri's Federal Forest Supervisor has assumed active duties as director of the new federal project in the state. Land examiners are at work in all of the forest areas. Headquarters for the project are at Rolla and the Forest Service is now buying land in Missouri offered for sale in the four forestry units.

A new tourist camp is rapidly springing up in Meramec State Park, on the high hill above Look-out Point. The new camp holds a beautiful view of the Meramec River and the surrounding park. The camp will contain ten fine buildings.

The season on rabbits is open the year around, but most hunters will not shoot a rabbit until the quail season opens. When there is mild weather in January, no shooting should be done after the middle of that month. The rabbit supply from year to year seems to hold out well. A rabbit is at home any place where there is food and a little protection.

The Missouri Duck Hunters' Association is taking an active interest toward betterment of the sport in the State. One of the projects it has been backing is the removal of limitations to the amount of ground the United States government can hold in any county in the state. "Removal of this restriction will permit the government to purchase duck preserves in Missouri, for which surveys have been made, it was pointed out at a recent meeting in St. Louis. The Association has also endorsed the "Dollar Duck Stamp" bill, which comes up at the next session of Congress in Washington and is preparing to take an active part in getting the bill passed. Frank A. Habig of St. Louis is president of the organization, which has a membership of 150 with immediate prospects of a membership increase to 500. This would make it one of the largest organizations of its kind in the country, according to Marion F. Parker, Rod & Run editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The total number of legal deer killed in Missouri in 17 counties numbered 65 according to reports received by the Game and Fish Department. This is 84 less than the number of deer tags returned for the three-day season last year when 149 tags were reported from twelve counties. Tags were returned this year from the following counties: Carter 5; Crawford 1; Dent 3; Dunklin 1; Franklin 2; Gasconade 22; Oregon 1; Osage 3; Pemiscot 1; Reynolds 2; Ripley 3; Shannon 1; Ste. Genevieve 4; Taney 13; Texas 1; Wayne 1 and Washington 1.

Harry Vaughn of Bloodland, Pulaski County, reports to Geo. Laun, game warden for District 31, at St. James, that he recently killed a black squirrel. Farmers near Sligo, Dent county, also report seeing a white deer, the warden says.

"I have been a farmer and sportsman all my life," writes Fritz Gottschalk of Brunswick, and hunted the sloughs and lakes on the Missouri, Grand and Chariton rivers for thirty years. It is my best opinion that all sportsmen should stop shooting ducks at moon each day during the open season. Our ducks haven't a chance to rest only at night. No wonder they pass on through. When they light in the center of the lakes or in the current of the river, a gun blast soon gets them up and they must go," he observes.

FOREST FIRE DAMAGE
IN STATE GREAT

Forest and prairie fires are being reported at this season of the year from various parts of the state. In Macon County, a mile southeast of Macon, many acres of forest were destroyed Sunday night. In the Missouri River bottoms, north of Grand Pass, Saline County, several hundred acres of grass were destroyed, and over 600 acres of timber and prairie land were burned over northwest of Rayville in Ray county. The unusually dry season and recent high winds are causes of some of the fires spreading, destroying much wild life as well as property. We urge hunters and campers to be particularly cautious about starting fires as much cover and feed are destroyed at a time when most needed by our upland game.

HOLDUP OF CAMPBELL
BANK NETS $1,800.00

Kennett, Nov. 20.—Two men, without masks, held up the First National Bank of Campbell shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon, robbed the bank of all the loose money on the counters and in the cash tills and took $800 which Acting Postmaster W. A. Shy was preparing to deposit. They forced Cashier John T. Ponder and Assistant Cashier Owen McCutchen to ride on the running boards of their new coach, which they had parked in front of the bank and let them off in front of the theatre building. The bandits then proceeded north towards Poplar Bluff.

Mr. Ponder stated he did not know how much money was taken from the bank but indicated it was about $1,000. He said that the car, a new Chevrolet, bore license number 307-152 and thought it was a Tennessee plate. He stated that the men wore navy blue suits.

The Tennessee license number of the Campbell bandit car was owned by J. H. Pitts, of Brunswick, in Shelby county, near Memphis, records showed. Police said that they had received no report here that it had been stolen. They started an investigation at once.

An Eye On Bobby?

How the children enjoy the "funnies" in your daily paper! It's great sport for them, following the antics of their favorite characters in the comics.

But why are they so likely to spread out before them on the floor or in other places where they may not be able to see comfortably?

Well, it's one of the peculiarities of children. Bobby is thinking of the pictures, not of his eyes.

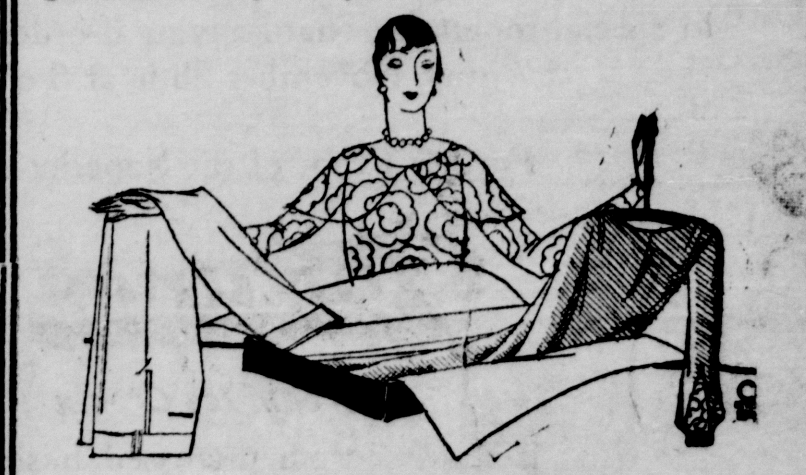

That's one of the many reasons why your home should be well lighted throughout. With good light everywhere, Bobby will not have to strain his eyes and perhaps become nearsighted.

The FACTS About
TAX EQUALITY

You should know all the facts concerning tax exemption of city owned business. It is costing the tax payers of Missouri over 2 million dollars a year, of which you pay your part. This series, running regularly in this paper, will tell many vital facts concerning the necessity for tax equality. Read them—and ACT.

Do you know that if every business in the state paid an equal share of taxes YOUR tax rate would be greatly reduced—and the state would secure a vast increase in revenue? It is a fact! Missouri has over 100 million dollars worth of city owned business property which is tax exempt—and you and the other tax payers of the state have to pay these missing taxes.

It is not fair to you in any way—if you are a farmer, you receive nothing whatever in return for your money; if you are a business man you may be paying taxes for a competitor, if you are a private citizen, a wage earner, a home owner, you and your children are being deprived of school privileges and other conveniences and necessities that this tax revenue would provide.

If more and more business becomes city owned, an ever-mounting tax burden will be thrown on your shoulders. It is time your taxes were reduced rather than increased.

I am in favor of an amendment and a law which will place all businesses on the tax rolls—whether privately or publicly owned—so that all such property shall pay its proportionate share of state, county and school taxes as well as state and federal income taxes. I pledge that I will vote against any candidate for public office who is known to be opposed to such an equitable tax law.

Once in every man's life, whether private or public, the spotlight of community events throws into the glare of light one deed which he commits which will stamp him indelibly for what he really is.

The instance which brings forth this comment is caused by a news item appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Standard which notifies the readers that the ordinance calling for a primary election in the City of Skeston has been vetoed by His Honor Mayor Fuchs.

It has been the opinion of quite a few of the leading Democrats in this community that the Mayor has been sailing under false colors in reference to his claim for being a pure Democrat. To the skeptical, past appointments of city jobs during his administration would lead them to the belief that his allegiance and tenure of office was due through the gift of the Republican party, inasmuch as we can find only one appointment made by him to a Democrat. The remaining plums of the city administration which are not non-partisan have been given to those who profess to admire the elephant.

His explanation accompanying his disapproval of the ordinance as introduced by Alderman G. W. Presnell from the Third Ward and passed by a majority of the Board of Aldermen with a vote of 5 to 3 sounds to us as though it were written by a Republican attorney. We fail to see why giving the Democrats an opportunity to select the best man of the many candidates who run for every office in the city would throw the city into politics. We do believe that primary election would prohibit any elective office in the city administration being occupied by any person who failed to receive a majority of the votes cast for that office, as is done now and has been done in the past.

The second objection appears to us to be straining a gnat and swallowing a camel, inasmuch as he is not in favor of the $150 additional expense to the city in an effort to select the best man from a possible field of many, but he has no objections to spending thousands of dollars of the city's money for improvements without the consideration of the people. His third objection objects to the County Central Committee having anything to do with substituting or filling any vacancy which might appear on the ticket, which is possibly a valid reason for his actions in vetoing this matter, show us that there is no dependence to be put in the Democratic Committeeman from Richmond Township, who, on this occasion, happens to be His Honor himself.

His fifth objection is that he does not desire that any candidate announce himself in time enough for the public to become acquainted with his history and fitness for the office to which he aspires. Under the political machine as now run in Skeston, headed by His Honor and lieutenant by the Republicans of the community, who, by the way, we saw congratulating themselves upon their signal victory Tuesday morning, would prohibit any last minute log rolling or concentration to make successful any candidate whom they might desire to place in office in the city.

His sixth objection is from the legal standpoint, which we are proud to see for the first time during his administration he is giving consideration to. If our understanding is correct, he should have vetoed the majority of the ordinances that have been passed during his administration if he desired to hold strictly to the legal possibilities of the city council.

We do not believe that any man who has been given the honor that the Democratic party has bestowed on His Honor can deliberately slap that political party in the face and continue to live a successful political life in this community. If we were the County Chairman of the Democratic Committee, after the Mayor vetoed this ordinance, we would feel it our duty to ask for his resignation as Democratic Committeeman, and we hope that Mr. Lucas sees this editorial.

The coming Thursday is the Turkey Day game with Charleston. We beat them on their ground last year and they are going to try desperately hard to beat us on our ground this year. If the day be fair, there will be a record crowd to witness the game. We are in hopes there will be no ill feeling result over the outcome. The Charleston coach will keep his players under his thumb until after this game and we feel that the Skeston coach will do the same. Regular hours and proper food is the thing at this time. May the best team win.

Mayor L. J. Heyman of Chaffee, chairman of the Scott County Relief Committee, called a meeting of his association for Chaffee last evening (Thursday) to explain what was necessary to perfect plans for immediate relief of unemployment in Scott County. Three projects will likely be approved by the committee, which will forward them to Wallace Crossley for his approval, and his authority is expected by the middle of the week after which work will begin immediately.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Joy of thanksgiving to God for numerous blessings will be expressed in all of the churches of the Nazarene throughout the world Sunday, the final Sunday of that church's Silver Jubilee Anniversary celebration, the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, announced today. The culmination of five weeks given over to celebrating the 25th anniversary of the church, a Thanksgiving offering of approximately one dollar for each member is sought to obtain a fund of $100,000 to be used principally in foreign mission work.

The Nazarene church has been particularly fortunate throughout the depression years, the pastor said. Few cuts in salary have been made among workers in foreign fields, and activity at home has been maintained without curtailment. Little difficulty is anticipated in obtaining the necessary amount needed from the church membership of more than 100,000.

"We are particularly thankful our country is emerging from the recent trying period," the pastor declared. "Not only because of the benefit that will accrue to our own members, but because it will mean great blessings to all who are sorely in need. We rejoice in the new deal and its manifold benefits."

Church advancement has been rapid since that October day in 1908 at Pilot Point, Texas, when the Church of the Nazarene was joined by the Pentecostal churches of America and the Holiness Church of Christ. With an enrollment of little more than 10,000 members in 1908 a Sunday school attendance of 200,000 in the Nazarene churches was attained in the Silver Jubilee Anniversary.

And since conditions are improving, a double emphasis is being placed on Thanksgiving this year, the minister pointed out. All churches are thankful because they benefit when the people as a whole benefit. Therefore, the rejoicing will be wholehearted and sincere.

As Dr. P. F. Bresee, the late founder of the church, so aptly put it in one of his poetical, yet strong prayers: "Oh, Lord, we praise Thee that we have been lifted out of the pit. Thank God, our feet are upon the rock. A new song has been put into our mouth, even praise to God, and we are turning up the way, shouting the praises of the Lamb that was slain."

The ladies of the Commerce Methodist Church will set a Thanksgiving dinner, Thursday, November 30, to which they invite the public. Over 200 pounds of turkey has been promised and all the other good things that go to make a Thanksgiving dinner will be served. Fifty cents will be the price.

MRS. BREWER HONORED WITH SHOWER MONDAY

ored with a miscellaneous household shower last Monday evening at the home of Miss Bernice Farris with Miss Farris and Miss Dessie Hydrick as hostesses. Thirty-three guests were present to enjoy the delightful affair, and to present an assortment of lovely as well as useful gifts to the recent bride.

A copy of the Sunday edition of the New York Times of November 19, was received in The Standard office Monday that makes The Standard look like almost nothing. It contained 160 pages of reading and advertising. It was some paper.

There has not been a single delegation from a town of less than 75,000 nor a farming community appeared against the Governor's bill to allow these towns to have an even break with the corporations when it comes to running their own industries. Yet there are legislators and senators from these rural communities flirting with the interests opposing the Governor's bill by filling the capital with an enormous lobby trying to defeat them.—LaPlata Home Press.

Mayor Gives Reasons for Refusal to Sign New Election Ordinance

To the City Council, Sikeston, Missouri:

Gentlemen:

On November 6th, 1933, your Honorable body passed an ordinance styled as follows:

"An Ordinance providing for methods and procedure for nominating candidates for Public Office within and for the City of Sikeston, Missouri."

I am returning this ordinance without my approval, but with my objections, which are as follows:

First: This ordinance puts the management of the City and the election of its officers into party politics. I do not feel that our local city affairs should be managed in this way. To my way of thinking partisan politics has no place in the handling of our local matters. I can see no reason why the minority party in a small city like ours, who pay their taxes like the majority party, should be deprived of having any representation at all in the management of the affairs of the city. I have been connected with the administration of the city for more than twenty years and during those years the city has been run without party tickets or partisan politics. This is the first proposition of a purely political nature with which the City Officers have been confronted. I think we have made progress and have done reasonably well and have been able to get along peacefully without the injection of partisan politics. Consequently, I feel that I cannot give this bill my approval.

Second: I further object to this bill because it requires an additional city election, which is to be held and paid for out of the Treasury of the City, as provided by Section 10 of the bill. This will be an additional expense to the City. It is true the ordinance provides for the payment of a fee by each candidate to help out in the payment of this expense, but this provision is not adequate to take care of this expense. The approximate expense of such a primary election will be about $150.00. For the fees of the candidates to meet this outlay would require forty or fifty candidates. It is evident that a large portion of the expense of this primary election would fall upon the City Treasury and upon the tax payers. For this further reason, I do not feel that this bill should receive my approval.

Third: I further object to this bill because Section 12 provides that the County Central Committee of the political party on whose ticket a vacancy may appear is authorized to fill the vacancy or vacancies on the ticket. The County Central Committee of each political party is composed of sixteen members. It would not be possible for more than two of these members to live in the City of Sikeston. I do not approve of any committee, who are not residents of the City of Sikeston, having authority to say who shall be placed on any ticket for a local city office. I think this authority should be kept in the city. I think the City of Sikeston ought to be run by the citizens of Sikeston.

Fourth: I further object to this bill because Section 15 thereof provides that the Township Committee of each party may appoint two party agents or representatives, with alternates, who may represent their party in the polling place in each ward during the election and act as challengers and witnesses to the count of the votes of the respective parties. The Township Committee who makes these appointments may not live in the City of Sikeston at all, and the men he appoints as party agents or challengers may not live in the City of Sikeston at all under the provisions of this ordinance. I do not think someone who does not live in the city should be able to appoint party agents or challengers, who may not live in the city, to supervise a City Election held in the City of Sikeston. I think the citizens of Sikeston should take care of their own elections. The operation of Section 12 and Section 15 of this bill, wherein people who do not live in Sikeston would be given authority to fill out Sikeston city tickets and supervise Sikeston city elections, would not set well with Sikeston people, and out of this situation would likely grow much dissatisfaction and disturbance. I believe the people of the City of Sikeston can get out their own candidates and handle their own elections without outside interference or assistance.

Fifth: I further object to this bill because it requires each candidate who expects to run for office at any April election to announce himself in writing and by declaration in the early days of February preceding. In other words, no candidate can run for any office under this ordinance unless he declares himself in writing at least sixty days before the election. This would deprive any candidate from running for office, who might make up his mind to do so within sixty days of the election and would deprive the people themselves from getting a candidate on the ticket, if they so desired, unless they would do so sixty days before the April election. I think this matter should be left open as it has been and now is so that any man or woman who desires to run for any office may do so without being compelled to declare them selves so far ahead of the election.

Sixth: I further object to this bill because Section 20 provides punishment for any person violating this ordinance up to a fine of $500.00 or imprisonment in the city jail for a term up to six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. As I understand it this city is not permitted by law to assess a fine of more than $100.00 or a term of imprisonment for more than three months. For the reasons herein given, I respectfully return this ordinance to the City Council without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

N. E. FUCHS, Mayor.

To the City Council, Sikeston, Missouri:

Gentlemen:

On November 6th, 1933, your Honorable body passed an ordinance styled as follows:

"An ordinance providing for the form of ballot hereafter to be used in City Elections, other than Special Elections, in the City of Sikeston, Missouri."

I am returning this ordinance without my approval. Since I am at this time returning to the Council.

"An ordinance providing for methods and procedure for nominating candidates for Public Office within and for the City of Sikeston, Missouri," without my approval, and with my objections, it naturally follows that I must return this ordinance without my approval, and my objections for not approving this ordinance are the same as those set out as grounds for my disapproval of the other ordinance.

Respectfully submitted,

N. E. FUCHS, Mayor.

The reasons given in Mayor Fuchs refusal to approve the ordinance called for a primary election are not borne out by the Statutes of the State of Missouri as the following extracts are quoted from the statutes:

In Sec. 6721 R. S. Mo. 1929, it is provided in part that "All city elections shall be held under the provisions of the general election laws of the state: Provided, that all certificates of nomination and petitions therefor, as provided by the state election laws, shall be filed with the city clerk and not with any other officer, and all duties specified to be performed by the constable or sheriff in the state election laws shall be performed by the marshal in city elections; and all tickets for city elections shall be printed by the city and at the city's expense; and all duties heretofore performed by the county clerk with reference to city elections shall be performed by the city clerk," etc., etc.

Third objection. (This relates to the filling of vacancies which may occur between the date of the primary and the date of the election.)

It is provided in Sec. 10268 R. S. 1929 that "Vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary or where no person shall offer himself as a candidate before such primary, shall be filled by the primary committee of the district, county, or state, as the case may be: Provided, however, that no name shall be allowed on any ticket until the required fee shall have been paid."

Section 12 of the ordinance is a verbatim restatement of this statute. But this is not the only way that the name of a candidate can be placed on the ticket after the primary. A candidate can be nominated by a petition of electors resident within the district or political division for which the candidate is presented, to a number equal to 2 per cent of the entire vote cast at the last preceding election. Nomination in this way is authorized in Section 10241, R. S. 1929, and the procedure is set out in great detail in the following sections.

Fourth objection: (This relates to the appointment of challengers and witnesses at primary elections.)

Sec. 10270 R. S. 1929 provides that, "The county, ward or township committee of each party in each county, may appoint two party agents or representatives, with alternates for each, who may represent his party at the polling place in each precinct during the casting, canvass and return of the vote at a primary, who shall act as challengers and witnesses to the count of the vote for their respective parties, and have the power prescribed by law."

Section 15 of the ordinance merely restates this statute. The ordinance does not add to or take anything away from the power of the township committee. He is given the power to appoint challengers and witnesses by state law.

Sixth objection. (Relating to the punishment for violations.)

It is provided in Sec. 10291 R. S. 1929 as follows: "Any person violating any of the provisions or requirements of this article for which no other or different punishment is prescribed shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $500.00, or by imprisonment in the county or city jail for a term not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

Section 20 of the ordinance is a verbatim restatement of this statute.

NOTICE TO LAND OWNERS OF THE LITTLE RIVER DRAINAGE DISTRICT

You are hereby notified that the meeting of all owners of land within the Little River Drainage District and all persons interested in any of said lands will be held at 9:30 o'clock in the morning of Monday, the twenty-seventh day of November, 1933, in the school gymnasium building in the City of Morehouse, in the County of New Madrid, State of Missouri, for the purpose of electing one member of the Board of Supervisors of the Little River Drainage District and to transact and attend to all other business or other matters that may properly come before said meeting. The polls will be open until 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon of said day and each owner of land is entitled to one vote for each and every acre of land owned by him in the district on which a benefit has been assessed.

All proxies and powers of attorney must be in writing and signed by the owner or owners of the land.

APPROXIMATELY 225 ROAD PROJECTS LISTED UNDER FEDERAL ALLOTMENT

Jefferson City, Nov. 17.—Approximately 225 projects principally on farm-to-market roads, to be constructed from Missouri's indicated $4,000,000 allotment under the new $90,000,000 federal highway program, were listed and will be submitted to the Bureau of Public Roads at Washington for approval within the next two days, Scott Wilson, chairman of the State Highway Commission, said after attending a meeting of the Commission with its bureau chiefs and division engineers held here.

The new program will put 15,000 unemployed men to work. This means that approximately 40,000 men will be engaged in highway activity this winter, and that hundreds of miles of new farm-to-market roads will be added to the state system.

The meeting was called by Chief Engineer Cutler upon receipt of a telegram, Monday, from T. H. McDonald, Chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, in which he called attention to the new allotment. Division engineers were instructed to come to this meeting prepared to submit at least two projects in each county upon which construction could be started immediately, and to suggest additional projects, with due regard to relief needs and value to the highway system. The new program is designed as a direct relief measure, and, under tentative rules, 65 per cent of the money expended must go directly for labor. Project requirements, as received to date, are rather broad and permit widening, grading, clearing of right-of-way, general maintenance, construction and almost any type of work which will require few materials and much labor.

It is estimated that approximately 600 projects, including rebuilding and other work, principally on farm-to-market roads, will be placed in actual construction within six weeks.

John Boles has a brand new mother. She is the beautiful Irene Browne, who created the role of "Margaret Harris" in the original stage production of "Cavalcade" and who was brought to Hollywood by Fox Film to do the same role in the screen version. Her second Hollywood characterization will be that of the Queen Mother in Lillian Harvey's second starring vehicle, "My Lips Betray," coming on Sunday and Monday to the Malone Theatre. John Boles has the role of the king. The picture has been directed by John Blystone.

SENATH BANKER GETS 12 YEARS IN PRISON

Kennett, Nov. 20.—Delmar Doherty, former assistant cashier of the now defunct Citizens Bank of Senath, was sentenced to 12 years in prison by Judge J. V. Billings on his three pleas of guilty in court this morning.

He received the maximum of 5 years each for embezzling funds from the bank and from the Senath school district, of which he was treasurer. He was sentenced to two years on a third charge of embezzling cotton warehouse receipts of the Horrell Land Co.

He still faces charges growing out of the holdup of Dee McMunn, messenger for the Jones Brothers Exchange.

The cases against Cashier W. H. Hutchins and Miss Myrtle Johnson, bookkeeper of the bank, jointly accused with Hutchins, were set for Dec. 20. The cases against George Krone, president of the bank, and H. G. Wilson, president of the school board, were continued until the February term of the court.

TAX LOOPHOLE TO GET CLOSED; CHANGES AIED

Washington, Nov. 21.—Revision of federal revenue laws may call upon wealthy individuals and corporations to pay $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 additional income taxes annually without an increase in rates.

The plan already formulated by a House ways and means subcommittee, contemplates wiping out many modifications made since 1920 in the administrative features of the income tax law.

Many exemptions now allowed both individuals and corporations may be entirely eliminated. Whether corporations shall be allowed to continue to file consolidated returns is just one question the subcommittee plans to submit to the full group at hearings beginning December 4th.

Reductions in the present 50 per cent allowance for depreciation and the limitation of amounts allowed for depletion also are to be reported on them.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Sam Hill, Democrat of Washington, today turned over to tax experts of the joint congressional internal revenue committee the findings of its weeks of study. These are to be put in a concise report for the full committee.

In its study, the subcommittee found constitutional questions and rulings of the court blocked many proposals to strengthen the income tax law. However, Hill predicted that if the subcommittee's recommendations are enacted by Congress, "between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 can be raised without an increase in rates."

Hill said every effort would be made to make individuals and corporations pay income taxes "on all actual gains" and that losses reported would have to be deducted from incomes in the same year.

Some revision of the capital gains and loss provision, he said, was contemplated. There had been some suggestion that it be abolished, he added.

In addition, Hill explained, it had been suggested that a 25 per cent levy be imposed on personal holding companies.

Mrs. Louis Dumey, R. 1, will receive free one package of Swans Down Biscuit Mix if she will call at The Standard office for same.

NUMBER 16

75 Million
Club Hosts at Saint Louis

(By C. L. Blanton, Jr.)

Major C. I. Malone, president of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce; John G. Powell, secretary of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce, and C. L. Blanton, Jr., president of the Sikeston Lions Club, as guests of the Seventy-five Million Club, accompanied W. L. Hutner, who is a member of the Progress Club, to St. Louis Thursday for the November monthly meeting of the Progress Club of the International Shoe Company. An invitation was extended to the officials of the civic organizations in the towns in the state of Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Arkansas in which they have located manufacturing plants.

After a very fine meal served in the ball room of the Hotel Statler at six o'clock, the meeting was called to order by the president of the Progress Club, with the program as follows:

Mr. C. E. Osterkamp, secretary of the Seventy-five Million, reported on the results of this club during its first year of organization. The results were very favorable, and made us proud of lots of towns which are assisted in supporting their cities by the International Shoe Company, but we were greatly ashamed of our own local community when it failed to increase its sales of International shoes as much as thirty per cent.

Mr. H. E. Jenkins, manager of the Hannibal factory, made a talk on "The First Seventy-five Million Club Demonstration and Its Effects." W. F. D. Batjer, secretary of the Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce, made a talk on "What the Seventy-five Million Club Means to a Community."

In our opinion, Mr. Batjer strayed considerable distance from his subject, and if we could read correctly between the sentences, his plea was that the International continue to operate the Cape Girardeau factory at full capacity regardless of the labor troubles which they are now having. His plea ended with the statement that whatever labor troubles they were having were being amicably settled, which sounded all right, but, apparently, did not convince Mr. Rand.

Next was Mr. C. P. Shay, superintendent of the Mexico factory, with his idea of the "Closer Cooperation of Employees as a Re-organization of the Seventy-five Million Club" and the program called for Mr. R. O. Rumer of the legal department to close the evening with "That Finer Relationship."

The pleasant surprise of all who attended was that part of the program which was not scheduled in advance, and that was the presence of Mr. Frank Rand chairman of the Board of Directors of the world's greatest shoe manufacturing concern. Mr. Rand stated in words which sounded good to us that because of the rashness of a few members who were considered big men in industry, that all industry was being held up, and that the factories were being shut down. Mr. Rand reported the progress made by the International Shoe Company since the contracting for their first factory in Hannibal up to date. We, to give you a clearer idea of the exact words of Mr. Rand, reproduce a part of the editorial run in the Southeast Missourian of last Monday which is as follows:

"Then Mr. Rand concluded with some remarks that drew the breathless attention of every man in the room. Mr. Rand spoke of the efforts that are being made to keep the factories busy and the policies of the company. Only genuine leather is ever used. No substitutes are ever permitted. And so the business has grown from a small beginning to the largest in the world, headed by a man who thinks before he speaks and then does exactly what he says."

"Mr. Rand said it has always been the policy of his company to run its own business and then with special emphasis he said in effect that 'we intend to continue this policy. We will run our business ourselves and will not permit anyone else to run it for us. When we can't run our own business we will quit.'"

"He had explained that the NRA now regulates working conditions and sets a minimum wage so that no worker can be imposed upon. There is no argument over wages or hours, so if there is to be any argument over the management of the factories, if groups are to attempt to dictate how the factories shall be operated, Mr. Rand makes it clear that the factories will be closed. That he means exactly what he says, and that he will do as he says, needs no discussion whatever."

The consensus of opinion of all Sikestonians who attended this meeting that they would sincerely appreciate an invitation from the Progress Club to be with them again at some future date.

Mr. Wallace Crossley of the Warrensburg Star-Journal, T. Ballard Watters of the Marshfield Mail and Paul C. Jones of the Kennett Democrat were elected members of the Board of Directors.

Reports of all Committees. The Missouri Legislature was called upon in a resolution adopted by the Missouri Press Association to pass necessary legislation to carry out Gov. Guy B. Park's relief program.

The resolution was adopted at the closing session of the meeting. The editors also voiced approval of a proposed $15,000,000 bond issue for rehabilitating the state's eleemosynary institutions as urged by the Governor.

This action was taken after Gov. Park addressed the Association Friday evening and asked Missouri publishers to support his legislative program.

The Association also approved the National Editorial Association's demand for a forty-hour week and instructed the Association's representatives to sign no code applicable to small town newspapers that does not provide for a week of at least forty hours.

It also voted to oppose any code for newspapers that would infringe upon freedom of the press.

The resolution supporting the Governor's program was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Following this adoption the meeting was adjourned, and members enjoyed the American Royal Live Stock Show in the afternoon.

Conoco Bus Here

Sikeston caught the first hand glimpse Wednesday of one of the big red, green and white Conoco Travel Bureau buses now touring the country for the purpose of increasing vacation travel to this area, as well as to thousands of other points in America noted for their scenic or historical interest.

In a special interview, Marshall Dana, commander of the bus, told The Sikeston Standard that, as far as the Travel Bureau is concerned, tourist traffic throughout North America during 1933 has broken all previous records.

According to Dana, tourist groups served by the Bureau during 1933 have far exceeded the figure for last year. The 1932 total was 143,997 trips, while those recorded so far this year have already passed the 183,000 mark.

These groups represented every state, as well as Mexico and every province in Canada. Of the 183,000 a total of 53,000 groups were routed into or through Missouri, and in addition 15,000 groups living within the state were given assistance. Included in the latter figure were many groups from Sikeston.

Members of the bus personnel, which also includes a number of Continental Oil Company officials in charge of the marketing division covering this area, spent some time gathering information about local points of interest. This information, in turn, will be included in literature which the Bureau mails to thousands of tourists.

The Conoco Travel Bureau, Dana explained, has grown, in four years' time, from a small branch serving a few hundred people to the largest organization of its type in America. It was founded by Continental in response to the demands of motor vacationists and everyday travelers who wish to be certain they are taking direct, trouble-free routes to their destinations and yet see the most interesting sights found in the country they journey through.

The Bureau's second major aim is to increase tourist travel to all of the nation's scenic regions. Through approximately 18,000 company and dealer service stations and hundreds of newspapers, hotels and chamber of commerce, the Bureau is distributing attractive maps and literature featuring this city and its surroundings, as well as numberless other interesting points in America.

This unusual service to which every motorist is entitled without spending a cent—even for postage—goes far beyond literature distribution. In the Bureau's central

Injured Man Suffering From Loss of Memory

A young man about 25 years old who gave his name as Wilbur Jarrold Rockwell of St. Louis, was brought to the Emergency Hospital Tuesday afternoon suffering from a badly cut left wrist and partial loss of memory. He was found on a side road east of Highway 61 about three miles north of here about 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by a farmer who passed in his car and saw the man lying in the road. The farmer brought the man here to the hospital immediately.

Attendants at the hospital were of the opinion that the man attempted suicide by cutting the arteries in his arms but fainted after he had cut his left arm. An express receipt in his billfold showed that W. F. Rockwell had shipped a bag or parcel weighing about 11 pounds from St. Louis to himself at New Orleans. As the man gave that name it is probable that he was hobnobbing or hitchhiking to the southern city. The man could not recall any town where he had been in the past but St. Louis. He did not know when he had last been there. He could not explain how he was injured or how he came to be on the side road. He stated that he might have attempted suicide but could not imagine why he should try to do so.

He said that his father, a stationary engineer, resided on Springdale Ave. near Natural Bridge Road in St. Louis.

Two Young Forgers Taste Quick Justice

Everett Brown, of Memphis and Clarence Deal, of Noxall, are in jail at Benton awaiting sentence on a charge of forgery.

Brown and Deal attempted to pass a $25 check on W. J. White, farmer of Matthews, at the Grubbers store here Tuesday afternoon. The two men gave a clerk the check in payment for a jacket. The check was taken to the Bank of Sikeston by Mr. Graber while the men waited. Bank employees pronounced the check a forgery and upon the request of Graber notified a deputy constable who arrived at the store and arrested the men soon after Graber returned and before they had time to leave.

Both youths pleaded guilty to the charge and were taken to Benton where they will be sentenced by the circuit court which is now in session.

Brown and Deal were each sentenced to two years in the penitentiary when they appeared before the court Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ella Hess Passes Away Early Tuesday

Mrs. Ella Kochtitzky Hess, beloved wife of Dr. J. A. Hess of this city, quietly passed away at the family residence on Park avenue early Tuesday morning after an illness of a very short time of heart trouble. Mrs. Hess had complained of her heart bothering her on Monday, and was feeling so bad that she did not arise Tuesday morning. Death came about 10 o'clock that morning.

Mrs. Hess was born near Danville, Ill., on September 11, 1861, and was the daughter of Oscar and Caroline Kochtitzky. In 1868 she came to Missouri with her parents, where most of her girlhood was spent in New Madrid and Jefferson City. On September 2, 1885, at Jefferson City she was married to James Albert Hess, and to this union five children were born, all of whom survive.

In February of 1889 she moved with her family to Sikeston where she has become a citizen loved and respected by all who came in contact with her.

Mrs. Hess has been an active member of the Methodist church for fifty years. She was a charter member of the local W. C. T. U., the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, the Woman's Club and the Eastern Star chapter, and has, at times, been active in all of these organizations. She was the first teacher of the Woman's Bible Class of the Methodist church where she taught for many years.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church with Rev. E. H. Orear, pastor, in charge. Interment was made in Memorial Park Cemetery. Dampster in charge. Out of town relatives who attended the funeral were Mrs. W. E. Merritt and Wilbur Kochtitzky of Mount Airy, N. C., Otto Kochtitzky, Miss Mary Kochtitzky and Mr. and Mrs. John Kochtitzky of Cape Girardeau and Mrs. Elise Bird and Wade Kochtitzky of Malden.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. J. A. Hess; four daughters, Mrs. Eva Reed of Sparks, Nev., Mrs. Helen Osburn of Denison, Texas, and Misses Caroline and Isabella Hess of this city; one son, Harold C. Hess of Phoenix, Ariz.; four grandchildren, Marjorie, Edward and Eleanor Reed and Jimmie Osburn; one sister, Mrs. W. E. Merritt of Mount Airy, N. C.; four brothers, Otto Kochtitzky and John Kochtitzky of Cape Girardeau, E. H. and Wilbur Kochtitzky of Mount Airy, N. C. Two uncles, John Schidler of Anthony, Kan., and Alfred Schidler of Kansas City, Kan., also survive.

MARRIAGE LICENSE INCITED ASSAULT

Deafy Badges, colored and one time employee of the International Shoe Factory here, decided to marry the lady of his heart so he secured the license Tuesday night and went to the girl friend to present his most original idea. Joe Fields, also colored, had an equally strong feeling for a gal. As you probably have already guessed the two gals were not two but one and the same dark-skinned mamma.

Under the circumstances the situation as you doubtless will agree called for action, so friend Joe Fields upheld his role nobly and proceeded to furnish same.

Said action resolved itself into various and sundry violent slashes with a dull but very effective knife. At the conclusion of the most admirable climax Deafy Badges relentlessly made known the fact that the operations with the knife had hurt him deeply, very deeply in several places about the head and shoulders.

At present Joe Fields is in the Benton jail and very seriously in danger of being removed from the field of conquest on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Badges lies in his bed of pain wondering if he will recover and considering the various distasteful aspects of courtship.

The colored gal who made the mistake of trying to be the light of two men's hearts at one and the same time seems to be hibernating for the present at a safe distance.

'33 College Graduates O. K.

Reports coming from various schools show that Sikeston High School graduates are starting off well as Freshmen all over the nation, with particularly strong grades being made in English, Mathematics and French.

A letter from the Chairman of the English Department of Northwestern University congratulates the local high school faculty on the high quality of their English teaching, since our graduate was one of the few highest as shown by a test, able to skip the first semester work and do the second upon entrance.

At Westminster the boys have a majority of grades above 90

Scott County Wheat Checks Total $18,700

County Agent Furry said that $13 checks for a total of $18,700 had been received by Simon P. Bollinger, Treasurer of the Scott County Wheat Production Control Association to pay the first payment on the wheat allotment contract which had been signed by Scott county farmers. This is the first consignment of checks which have been received, a portion of which came in last Saturday, while the balance came in Tuesday. This is not the entire amount, as others will follow shortly.

Cards were mailed out to those whose checks had arrived, asking them to come to the Association's office at Benton on Thursday and Friday, November 23rd and 24th. Mr. Bollinger will open the office at 8:30 a. m. Each person receiving this card is to come and bring the card with him and must sign a receipt in the presence of Mr. Bollinger. Those who have signed contracts, but did not receive a card, were told not to come, because if they did not receive a card, it indicated that their check has not arrived. Mr. Bollinger will be in the office these two days, beginning at 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. and every farmer should arrange to be here one of the two days.

Scott County is leading Missouri in getting the wheat checks back, in fact some men are receiving their wheat checks who have not as yet received their cotton checks. It is felt that checks for the new cotton plan and the new corn-hog plan which is coming will have checks sent back as promptly as did the wheat.

FAVORABLE WEATHER WILL SPEED FINISH OF SPUR PAVING

The crew laying the spur pavement is working with all possible speed and it is thought that with favorable weather it can be finished within ten days. A scarcity of trucks held up the start of the work for a few days but sufficient trucks are now on the job and the paving is well under way. Rain or freezing weather could halt the work but it is hoped that neither will occur before the work is finished.

Bill Grisham, son of Mrs. Pink Wilson of this city, and Miss Ernestine Mosley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Mosley of Morehouse, were united in marriage last Monday night at Charleston, with Mrs. Pink Wilson and Harris Crawford as attendants. Mr. Grisham is an employee at the local International Shoe factory. The young people expect to make their home in this city.

Institute On Public Welfare In Chaffee Saturday and Sunday

There will be an institute on public welfare held in Chaffee, Saturday and Sunday, November 25 and 26, for the training of case workers for unemployment relief work, volunteer social service workers and for the explanation of all relief projects. All persons interested in welfare work and social service are cordially invited to attend the sessions.

Registration will commence at 8:30 Saturday morning, the 25th, at the City Hall in Chaffee.

There will be no charges for this course, and government instructors and relief workers will be cr. hand to arrange a program which will be announced later. This will not interfere with church services in any way, as it is planned that the morning services in one of the churches contain a sermon by one of the local ministers on the religious aspect of the unemployment situation, to which all of those attending the institute will be invited to attend.

It is expected that quite a few volunteer relief workers over Southeast Missouri will come to this institute, and an instructive course in social service and public welfare will be given.

The institute will be conducted along the lines of the one held in Columbia Mo., the first of this week for the entire state, and will be supplemental to the training and instruction given at that institute, except that it will deal with individual workers. The one held at Columbia dealt with district workers.—Chaffee Signal.

The Mayores of Brighton, England, states that ten years hence nudity will be the style at all bathing resorts. Now we know we were born fifty years too soon.

Early Glenn, fugitive from justice for the past ten months, who was recently captured at Wilson, Ark., and was accompanied by Benton Tuesday by Joe Anderson, Sheriff of Scott county, Wednesday, was taken to a charge of burglarizing the Otto Schoen Store at Fornefeld last January, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Elmer Teague, who was charged with being with Glenn, also pleaded guilty to the same charge, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Little Wolf, colored youth of this vicinity, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in circuit court Wednesday and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The youth is alleged to have entered a home on Ethel Street about 4 o'clock on the morning of last August 21, and attacking Mrs. Howard Dunaway trained nurse, who was at that time nursing Bobby Ralph in the home of his grand-parents. After a wrestle with the nurse the negro escaped and was not captured until some time later.

Complaint has been made to Sheriff Joe Anderson of numerous gambling joints being set up in the neighborhood of Sikeston. Sheriff Anderson wishes to notify the operators of these so-called clubs, or joints, that he proposes to close every one of them and lock the operators in jail if he can secure the evidence. Those who complain of such joints should produce the evidence if they expect the law to act. The sheriff has to have some cooperation to make a case and break up gambling joints.

We have always held out stoutly for our friends, the scientists, but it would seem there is a point beyond which they should cease prying into nature's secrets. Unless this point is reached soon, catastrophe awaits us. A recent dispatch from Detroit states that Dr. Kamm, experimenting on glandular extracts, is perfecting a chemical solution which will enable fathers to take turn about with mothers suckling their children. Experiments with cats show, says Dr. Kamm, that in two days after an injection of this solution a tom cat with healthy lacteal glands was able to suckle kittens. If we were a young fellow we'd run out on this game. Nothing is more certain if it succeeds, than that eventually the male of the human species will have motherhood literally thrust upon him and will be receiving tender letters from grown sons and daughters, absent from the maternal proof, on Mother's Day. Also candy and flowers and pin cushions. In other words, they will also be having the babies as well as nursing them if a sacrilegious curiosity is allowed to continue. The question confronting us, gentlemen, is will they be worth the price?—Paris Mercury.

Well, the name of the new Russian ambassador appeared in the papers today, and it just about took up all the paper. It's Alexander Antonovich Trovanovsky. That's an alphabetic rhapsody in vowels and consonants. But they don't put much over on Mr. Roosevelt, he sent 'em a guy named Bullitt. That was just a kind of subtle hint.—Will Rogers.

There are some gentlemen in the Missouri Capital City running for United States Senator or Governor or even re-election to their present office, who imagine they are building up a constituency by trying to tear down the leadership already selected by Missouri Democracy. With little evident consideration for the maintenance of the great party that is in power, in state and nation, they seem deliberately trying to wreck it in their endeavor to achieve their own aggrandizement. They are following the tactics inaugurated by another excellent gentleman, who probably would have been governor of Missouri, today, but for his efforts to build himself up at the expense of the leadership of his own party. It will never do gentlemen. Our Governor and our President are earnestly trying to pull us from the mire into which we have been sunk by the tactics of the past twelve years, and the overwhelmingly majority of Missouri's voters are resenting and will continue to resent the efforts of any aggressive politician to belittle these endeavors. Governor Park entered office with the entire confidence, not only of his own party but thousands of the opposite. No one doubts his integrity. He has not betrayed a single Democratic principal and is earnestly striving in the interest of the people of the state. Recognition of him as the leader of his party will not weaken the standing of a single aspirant to further office. Recognitions of the interests opposing him will be fatal to the individual and harmful to the Democratic party.—LaPlata Home Press.

HOME ECONOMICS BUREAU HEAD LISTS ACTIVITIES

Washington, Nov. 18.—Louise Stanley, charming chief of the bureau of home economics of the United States department of agriculture, has reported her activities for the year ending June 30, 1933, to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. These are some of the things that kept her busy:

Discovering how many vitamins there are in eggs, wheat and lettuce.

Testing lards and cotton seed oil as fundamental ingredients of hot biscuits.

Measuring the strength (tensile) of eggs.

Finding out how long roast leg of lamb should be roasted to make it tender, yet juicy, yet done.

Experimenting with potatoes to see why some turn dark and some don't when boiled.

Developing a method of frying carrot chips.

Continuing a 3-year study of jelly juices.

Planning budgets for housewives.

Learning that laundries do not contribute to the wearing out of cotton sheets to any grave degree.

Proving that a good linen table cloth may be laundered at least 200 times without disintegrating.

New Madrid County Superintendent's News

Miss Estelle Smith, Farrenburg School, gave a box supper a short time ago which netted $24.00. In these times when incidental funds are scarce, a small fund created by such means helps to buy many small items that the school needs.

We note that Mrs. Elode M. Davis has resigned from the Marston High School, Lemuel S. Bollinger from the Parma High School and Richard Moore from the Gideon High School. Walter Ford of Cape Girardeau is the new teacher at Parma and Denver Clubb succeeds Mr. Moore at Gideon.

This makes a total of five resignations in the schools of New Madrid county this term and the year is yet young. We wonder what will happen along the latter part of the term when many teachers will begin to get scraps of paper on pay day.

In fact, many teachers have already received warrants this year that cannot be redeemed now. A teacher called at the office yesterday who was disturbed over the fact that he had received cash for only half of his work this term. He was promised only $480 for the year's work and with a family to support this is little enough even when paid in full.

In fact, the lowest paid laborer under the NRA program gets 30 per cent more than this. And, too, we must remember that the cost of living is going up and that a teacher must buy everything he uses just as the laborer in the industrial center.

Last year many teachers patriotically finished terms of school without pay, and we urged them to do this trusting that the legislature of this strong commonwealth would see that their patience was rewarded with jobs this year that paid a living wage.

But instead of provisions for more state aid this year, we are sadly told that it will be still further decreased—and the legislature still commits the sin of omission.

Governor Park asked the legislature in the regular session last winter to provide for schools but they turned a deaf ear. Again on October 17 at the opening of the special session Governor Park made it clear to the legislature that the schools were facing a crisis and included a definite solution along with the problem.

A month has passed and nothing has been done for the schools. Our citizens who have children of school age should demand an explanation.

We note that one of the above mentioned teachers resigned to take a position behind a counter as meat chopper at a salary better than he was receiving for teaching in high school. Does this condition not alarm your peace of mind?

Next to the ministry, teaching is the highest of all professions involving serious responsibilities and demanding men and women of outstanding characteristics. And yet after a teacher has invested his time and money to prepare for this glorious profession and then finds it more profitable to step out of the profession to be a mere meat chopper, he must be squelched with utter disgust and his senses must be enshrouded with bitter disappointment when he thinks of the statesmen of our great state refusing to assume their responsibility—and with the unconcerned attitude of Nero whoiddled while Rome burned.

If we owned a laboratory of expensive sensitive instruments we would employ the best talent to handle them knowing that an untrained person might do serious damage in handling these delicate instruments. And yet our statesmen are willing for the most delicate instrument in the universe—the child's mind—to be handled and trained by persons receiving less salary than a mere clerk that sells beefsteak and bologna.

And unless the trend is changed the efficiency of our schools is going to be impaired as sure as we breathe for the best teachers will eventually reach the limit of their patience and endurance and forsake the profession they have learned to love.

This deterioration will be so gradual that parents will not even suspect it for they will be prone to think that all is well as long as Johnnie comes home with a report card exhibiting good grades, not realizing that the weakest teacher can write down a grade as high as she chooses even though it does belie the actual status of the child's progress. We cannot forever starve the schools without suffering from the resulting deterioration which in turn affects our civilization, to which the school gave birth and fostered.

RESTORED ST. SOPHIA MOSAICS UNVEILED AFTER 500 YEARS

Istanbul, Nov. 20.—Mosaics of the Mosque of St. Sophia were unveiled yesterday by Thomas Whittemore, director of the American Byzantine Institute, in the presence of the Turkish Minister of Education.

As a result of two years of clearing and restoration, the sixth and ninth century mosaics were revealed just as they were created.

The greatest ninth century mosaic in the world was disclosed above the Naon portal. It represents Christ seated on a golden throne which is encrusted with emeralds and pearls. Emperor Leo VI is kneeling before Him and medallions of the Virgin Mary are on the right and the Angel Gabriel on the left.

The St. Sophia mosaics have been hidden, covered over with plaster and whitewash, since the capture of Constantinople by the Mohammedan Turks in 1453.

GRAVITY 66 TO 72.4

That's how high Phillips HIGH TEST is!

Instead of high-sounding words about high test, Phillips gives you evidence as simple and convincing as "2 and 2 make 4."

The gravity of Phillips 66—usually called the "test"—is printed above in plain figures. You can see for yourself how high they are. And that is exactly what you don't see in other gasoline ads. The next time you read the phrase "high test" elsewhere, just look for the gravity figures—if any!

These figures are your guarantee of real action for every penny you spend on gasoline . . . your guarantee of the biggest value in motor fuels . . . your guarantee of honest high test.

Phill-up with Phillips and you will quickly get results which prove there is a difference in gasolines! You will enjoy the new speed and ease of starting. The quick warm-up and eager acceleration. The added power and mileage. And not the faintest ping or knock, even if you jam down the gas—because high test Phillips 66 is also high anti-knock.

All of these good qualities are preserved and protected by the Phillips method of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY. Fifty above or ten below zero, whatever your weather, every gallon of Phillips 66 is scientifically matched to it in advance. So you always get a gas which delivers the peak of performance.

Make the test today. Convince yourself and start saving money. Just stop for one trial tankful at the nearest Orange and Black shield.

Don't buy any tires until you see the Phillips written guarantee

At last! A first-rank quality tire with skid-resistor tread, at a paid order price. Made by Lee of Conshocken. Served by Phillips stations and dealers in 17 states. Guaranteed in writing by Lee and Phillips. This guarantee is so unusual and liberal, you want to see it and get your price before you buy any tire for car or truck. And now is the time to buy and save money!

Mrs. Lutie Leslie returned home Wednesday from a visit at Fredericktown with her son, R. H. Leslie and family.

Frank Hewitt was called to Oklahoma, Thursday, by the death of his father. Mr. Hewitt is a brother of Mrs. C. H. Gibson and moved to Missouri this fall to operate Mr. Gibson's farm and the latter family moved to Oklahoma City. Dee Mize made the trip to Oklahoma with Mr. Hewitt.

Miss Marjorie Leslie of Cape Girardeau came down Saturday for a week end visit with her cousin, Nancy Leslie.

Mrs. M. E. Norden of Sikeston was an all-day guest of Mrs. L. L. Hunter, Friday.

The Baptist Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. Lutie Leslie Wednesday afternoon for a school of instruction in charge of Mrs. S. J. Estes of Charleston and her committee. All Baptist ladies are urged to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Chaney of St. Louis were Morley visitors Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. T. G. Craft of Bernie visited friends here Sunday. Rev. Craft was formerly pastor of the M. E. church.

The Morley Study Club was entertained by Mrs. L. Daugherty and Mrs. C. A. Stallings at the home of the latter Friday afternoon. Fifteen members answered to roll call with a quotation from an American writer. Splendid reports were given of the 9th District Convention by Mrs. Rex Boyce and Mrs. Vernon Laval. The program on American Citizenship was led by Mrs. Anna Beardslee with papers given by Mrs. U. G. Ragains and Mrs. H. F. Emerson and a poem by Mrs. Lutie Leslie. The club is offering a prize this year to the grade school and to the high school for the best book report in each. A plate lunch was served by the entertaining ladies at the conclusion of the program.

city during the thirty years preceding the Civil War, according to the historian J. Thomas Scharf, John O'Fallon would have been the person selected. Not only was he a successful business man, a millionaire and a public benefactor, but he was one of the most beloved men in the history of St. Louis.

This week commemorates the anniversary of the birth of John O'Fallon near Louisville, Kentucky, on November 23, 1791, just one hundred and forty-two years ago, although the date is sometimes given as November 17. The boy's father, Dr. James O'Fallon, was a descendant of a prominent Irish family, and served in the American Revolution. Through his mother, Frances (Fanny) Clark, the boy was related to the famous George Rogers Clark and William Clark. John O'Fallon attended an academy at Danville, Ky., which later became Centre College. In 1810 he went to study law at Lexington, but the marching of volunteers to the Indian wars attracted young O'Fallon, and in 1811 he was off for the Indian campaigns, participating in the celebrated battle of Tippecanoe where he received a scar which he bore throughout life.

The year 1812 found O'Fallon in St. Louis, where he helped his uncle, William Clark, in the latter's duties as Indian Agent. Having been commissioned as ensign in the army on Sept. 12, 1812, O'Fallon left for the northern frontiers, where he saw active service with General Harrison throughout the war of 1812. By the time the war was over, O'Fallon was a captain, and he remained in the army after peace was declared.

Resigning from the army in August, 1818, O'Fallon again came to St. Louis. His career was now to begin in earnest. He became interested in Indian trading and in contracting to supply the army, and made the beginning of his fortune in these enterprises. Gov. McNair made him the first adjutant-general of the State, and he served in the second and third General Assemblies in 1822 and 1824. In 1821, he married a sister of William Stokes, a wealthy Englishman who had come to St. Louis.

After the death of his first wife, O'Fallon was married on March 15, 1827, to Miss Ruth Caroline Schutz, a native of Maryland. The night of the marriage a group of about a thousand St. Louisians decided to give a charivari for the couple. The great crowd made a terrific noise, and finally O'Fallon sent them word that he considered them all his friends and authorized them to enjoy themselves at his expense. It was reported that the crowd "cleaned out" two drinking-houses for which O'Fallon had to pay $1,000 the next day.

When a branch of the Bank of the United States was established at St. Louis in 1829, O'Fallon became its president. For four years he gave St. Louis a high example of sound, conservative banking, and wound up the affairs of the bank with a loss of only $125 compared to tens of thousands of losses of some other branches that had to liquidate. J. Ray Cable, economist, said that "John O'Fallon deserves to be remembered as perhaps Missouri's first teacher of sound banking principles."

Meanwhile the wealth of O'Fallon was growing rapidly, and apace with the increase of his fortune was the increase in the number of his benefactions. Among his public gifts were the site of the old St. Louis water works the site of the first Methodist Church on Fourth Street, the endowment of O'Fallon Polytechnic Institute, contributions to Washington University, the site of St. Louis University, the site for the Home of the Friendless, and O'Fallon Park. So numerous were the public and private contributions of the St. Louis man during his own lifetime, that the Episcopal Bishop, Hawks, preaching his funeral sermon in 1865, said that O'Fallon had been, in effect, his own executor. By 1860 it was estimated that O'Fallon had already bestowed more than a million dollars in philanthropic projects.

Among O'Fallon's friends were presidents and others in high official life. He was the personal friend of Presidents Harrison and Taylor, and knew Clay, Cass, Benton, Calhoun, Grant and many others. He was interested in the development of railroads and was president of the Ohio and Mississippi, later Baltimore and Ohio, and of the North Missouri.

Lamented by the entire city in which he had spent the greater part of his life, O'Fallon passed away at his home on Washington avenue on December 17, 1865. Mrs. O'Fallon, who lived until 1898, and several children, survived the beloved Missouri benefactor.

GAME AND FISH NEWS

One of the largest deer reported shot during the recent three-day open season in Missouri is an eleven point buck brought down by W. H. McNichol of St. Louis, 20 miles northeast of Salem in Dent County. It weighed 280 lbs. and was his three times at a distance of 110 yards.

Price McGaugh and Ed Pugh of near Bethany, report that two duck hunters last week killed 25 tame mallard ducks belonging to them. This seems to have been a sorry season for decoys as numerous such reports have been received. The mallards were departing themselves on the waters of East Big Creek not far from the Pugh home, when they were come upon by a pair of hunters looking for the wild kind.

"In the spring, summer and fall the upland and song birds destroy an incalculable number of destructive insects but you must give birds assistance during the winter months. A few hills of corn, a few shocks of grain left after the harvest for the feathered friends to eat this winter will pay generous and lasting returns to the farmer," a bulletin to this Department states.

The season on furbearers opened November 15th; wild turkey season opens December 1; squirrel season closes November 30th.

Walter Pinson claims the dis-function of having crested two bases on one cast while angling on Bull Creek, south of Springfield, the other day.

The jack salmon season has opened on the Sac-Osage Lake at Osceola, according to Dr. F. H. Riley. Several have caught their limit and the jacks have begun to "click," he writes.

It cost a St. Charles, Mo., hunter $35 recently to kill a pheasant. The hunter was taken before a Justice of the Peace at Wentzville, near where he was hunting. In Missouri there are no open seasons for killing pheasants. According to a report a large number of pheasants are in St. Charles county, especially in Callaway township, according to the Washington Citizen.

Wilbur C. Buford, State Game & Fish Commissioner, and Dr. G. B. Herndon, chief of hatcheries, have accepted an invitation to address a meeting of the Fish, Game and Forest League at Kansas City on the night of November 27th. Changes that have taken place in the department, especially with reference to the discontinuance of pheasant propagation and the reduction of the number of trout propagated, will be discussed.

Leslie S. Bean, Missouri's Federal Forest Supervisor has assumed active duties as director of the new federal project in the state. Land examiners are at work in all of the forest areas. Headquarters for the project are at Rolla and the Forest Service is now buying land in Missouri offered for sale in the four forestry units.

A new tourist camp is rapidly springing up in Meramec State Park, on the high hill above Look-out Point. The new camp holds a beautiful view of the Meramec River and the surrounding park. The camp will contain ten fine buildings.

The season on rabbits is open the year around, but most hunters will not shoot a rabbit until the quail season opens. When there is mild weather in January, no shooting should be done after the middle of that month. The rabbit supply from year to year seems to hold out well. A rabbit is at home any place where there is food and a little protection.

The Missouri Duck Hunters' Association is taking an active interest toward betterment of the sport in the State. One of the projects it has been backing is the removal of limitations to the amount of ground the United States government can hold in any county in the state. "Removal of this restriction will permit the government to purchase duck preserves in Missouri, for which surveys have been made, it was pointed out at a recent meeting in St. Louis. The Association has also endorsed the "Dollar Duck Stamp" bill, which comes up at the next session of Congress in Washington and is preparing to take an active part in getting the bill passed. Frank A. Habig of St. Louis is president of the organization, which has a membership of 150 with immediate prospects of a membership increase to 500. This would make it one of the largest organizations of its kind in the country, according to Marion F. Parker, Rod & Run editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The total number of legal deer killed in Missouri in 17 counties numbered 65 according to reports received by the Game and Fish Department. This is 84 less than the number of deer tags returned for the three-day season last year when 149 tags were reported from twelve counties. Tags were returned this year from the following counties: Carter 5; Crawford 1; Dent 3; Dunklin 1; Franklin 2; Gasconade 22; Oregon 1; Osage 3; Pemiscot 1; Reynolds 2; Ripley 3; Shannon 13; Ste. Genevieve 4; Taney 13; Texas 1; Wayne 1 and Washington 1.

Harry Vaughn of Bloodland, Pulaski County, reports to Geo. Laun, game warden for District 31, at St. James, that he recently killed a black squirrel. Farmers near Sligo, Dent county, also report seeing a white deer, the warden says.

"I have been a farmer and sportsman all my life," writes Fritz Gottschalk of Brunswick, "and hunted the sloughs and lakes on the Missouri, Grand and Chariton rivers for thirty years. It is my best opinion that all sportsmen should stop shooting ducks at noon each day during the open season. Our ducks haven't a chance to rest only at night. No wonder they pass on through. When they light in the center of the lakes or in the current of the river, a gun blast soon gets them up and they must go," he observes.

FOREST FIRE DAMAGE IN STATE GREAT

Forest and prairie fires are being reported at this season of the year from various parts of the state. In Macon County, a mile southeast of Macon, many acres of forest were destroyed Sunday night. In the Missouri River bottoms, north of Grand Pass, Saline County, several hundred acres of grass were destroyed, and over 600 acres of timber and prairie land were burned over northwest of Rayville, in Ray county. The unusually dry season and recent high winds are causes of some of the fires spreading, destroying much wild life as well as property. We urge hunters and campers to be particularly cautious about starting fires as much cover and feed are destroyed at a time when most needed by our upland game.

"On her eighteenth birthday I gave my daughter her first front door key," "That was the proper modern spirit, old man," "Not necessarily—I just got tired having her knock off the milk bottles crawling through the pantry window."

HOLDUP OF CAMPBELL BANK NETS $1,800.00

Kennett, Nov. 20.—Two men, without masks, held up the First National Bank of Campbell shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon, robbed the bank of all the loose money on the counters and in the cash tills and took $800 which Acting Postmaster W. A. Shy was preparing to deposit. They forced Cashier John T. Ponder and Assistant Cashier Owen McCutchen to ride on the running boards of their new coach, which they had parked in front of the bank and let them off in front of the theatre building. The bandits then proceeded north towards Poplar Bluff.

Mr. Ponder stated he did not know how much money was taken from the bank but indicated it was about $1,000. He said that the car, a new Chevrolet, bore license number 307-152 and thought it was a Tennessee plate. He stated that the men wore navy blue suits.

The Tennessee license number of the Campbell bandit car was owned by J. H. Pitts, of Brunswick, in Shelby county, near Memphis, records showed. Police said that they had received no report there that it had been stolen. They started an investigation at once.

Are You Keeping An Eye On Bobby?

How the children enjoy the "funnies" in your daily paper! It's great sport for them, following the antics of their favorite characters in the comics.

But why are they so likely to spread out before them on the floor or in other places where they may not be able to see comfortably?

Well, it's one of the peculiarities of children. Bobby is thinking of the pictures, not of his eyes.

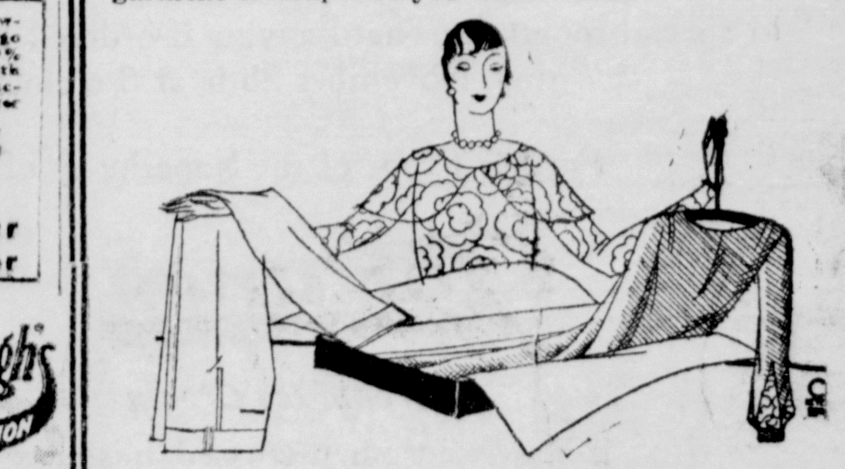

That's one of the many reasons why your home should be well lighted throughout. With good light everywhere, Bobby will not have to strain his eyes and perhaps become nearsighted.

The FACTS About TAX EQUALITY

You should know all the facts concerning tax exemption of city owned business. It is costing the tax payers of Missouri over 2 million dollars a year, of which you pay your part. This series running regularly in this paper will tell many vital facts concerning the necessity for tax equality. Read them—and ACT.

Do you know that if every business in the state paid an equal share of taxes YOUR tax rate would be greatly reduced—and the state would secure a vast increase in revenue? It is a fact! Missouri has over 100 million dollars worth of city owned business property which is tax exempt—and you and the other tax payers of the state have to pay these missing taxes.

It is not fair to you in any way—if you are a farmer, you receive nothing whatever in return for your money; if you are a business man you may be paying taxes for a competitor, if you are a private citizen, a wage earner, a home owner, you and your children are being deprived of school privileges and other conveniences and necessities that this tax revenue would provide.

If more and more business becomes city owned, an ever-mounting tax burden will be thrown on your shoulders. It is time your taxes were reduced rather than increased.

If you want a square tax deal MAIL THIS NOW!

I am in favor of an amendment and a law which will place all businesses on the tax rolls—whether private or publicly owned—so that all such property shall pay its proportionate share of state, county and school taxes as well as state and federal income taxes. I pledge that I will vote against any candidate for public office who is known to be opposed to such an equitable tax law.

The state needs more revenue, but it should come from one and all alike. There should be no "free lift" on the tax rolls. Tax equality is the first thing you should demand. Mail the first-timed coupon is the first step to take right now.

Once in every man's life, whether private or public, the spotlight of community events throws into the glare of light one deed which he commits which will stamp him indelibly for what he really is.

The instance which brings forth this comment is caused by a news item appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Standard which notifies the readers that the ordinance calling for a primary election in the City of Skeston has been vetoed by His Honor Mayor Fuchs.

It has been the opinion of quite a few of the leading Democrats in this community that the Mayor has been sailing under false colors in reference to his claim for being a pure Democrat. To the skeptical, past appointments of city jobs during his administration would lead them to the belief that his allegiance and tenure of office was due through the gift of the Republican party, inasmuch as we can find only one appointment made by him to a Democrat. The remaining plums of the city administration which are not non-partisan have been given to those who profess to admire the elephant.

His explanation accompanying the disapproval of the ordinance as introduced by Alderman G. W. Presnell from the Third Ward and passed by a majority of the Board of Aldermen with a vote of 5 to 3 sounds to us as though it were written by a Republican attorney. We fail to see why giving the Democrats an opportunity to select the best man of the many candidates who run for every office in the city would throw the city into politics. We do believe that primary election would prohibit any elective office in the city administration being occupied by any person who failed to receive a majority of the votes cast for that office, as is done now and has been done in the past.

The second objection appears to us to be straining a gnat and swallowing a camel, inasmuch as he is not in favor of the $150 additional expense to the city in an effort to select the best man from a possible field of many, but he has no objections to spending thousands of dollars of the city's money for improvements without the consideration of the people.

His third objection objects to the County Central Committee having anything to do with substituting or filling any vacancy which might appear on the ticket, which is possibly a valid reason for his actions in vetoing this matter, show us that there is no dependence to be put in the Democratic Committee from Richard Township, who, on this occasion, happens to be His Honor himself.

His fifth objection is that he does not desire that any candidate announce himself in time enough for the public to become acquainted with his history and fitness for the office to which he aspires. Under the political machine as now run in Skeston, headed by His Honor and lieutenant by the Republicans of the community, who, by the way, we saw congratulating themselves upon their signal victory Tuesday morning, would prohibit any last minute log rolling or concentration to make successful any candidate whom they might desire to place in office in the city.

His sixth objection is from the legal standpoint, which we are proud to see for the first time during his administration he is giving consideration to. If our understanding is correct, he should have vetoed the majority of the ordinances that have been passed during his administration if he desired to hold strictly to the legal possibilities of the city council.

We do not believe that any man who has been given the honor that the Democratic party has bestowed on His Honor can deliberately slap that political party in the face and continue to live a successful political life in this community. If we were the County Chairman of the Democratic Committee, after the Mayor vetoed this ordinance, we would feel it our duty to ask for his resignation as Democratic Committeeman, and we hope that Mr. Lucas sees this editorial.

The coming Thursday is the Turkey Day game with Charleston. We beat them on their ground last year and they are going to try desperately hard to beat us on our ground this year. If the day be fair, there will be a record crowd to witness the game. We are in hopes there will be no ill feeling result over the outcome. The Charleston coach will keep his players under his thumb until after this game and we feel that the Skeston coach will do the same. Regular hours and proper food is the thing at this time. May the best team win.

Mayor L. J. Heyman of Chaffee, chairman of the Scott County Relief Committee, called a meeting of his association for Chaffee last evening (Thursday) to explain what was necessary to perfect plans for immediate relief of unemployment in Scott County. Three projects will likely be approved by the committee, which will forward them to Wallace Crossley for his approval, and his authority is expected by the middle of the week after which work will begin immediately.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Joy of thanksgiving to God for numerous blessings will be expressed in all of the churches of the Nazarene throughout the world Sunday, the final Sunday of that church's Silver Jubilee Anniversary celebration, the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, announced today. The culmination of five weeks given over to celebrating the 25th anniversary of the church, a Thanksgiving offering of approximately one dollar for each member is sought to obtain a fund of $100,000 to be used principally in foreign mission work.

The Nazarene church has been particularly fortunate throughout the depression years, the pastor said. Few cuts in salary have been made among workers in foreign fields, and activity at home has been maintained without curtailment. Little difficulty is anticipated in obtaining the necessary amount needed from the church membership of more than 100,000.

"We are particularly thankful our country is emerging from the recent trying period," the pastor declared. "Not only because of the benefit that will accrue to our own members, but because it will mean great blessings to all who are sorely in need. We rejoice in the new deal and its manifold benefits."

Church advancement has been rapid since that October day in 1908 at Pilot Point, Texas, when the Church of the Nazarene was joined by the Pentecostal churches of America and the Holiness Church of Christ. With an enrollment of little more than 10,000 members in 1908 a Sunday school attendance of 200,000 in the Nazarene churches was attained in the Silver Jubilee Anniversary.

And since conditions are improving, a double emphasis is being placed on Thanksgiving this year, the minister pointed out. All churches are thankful because they benefit when the people as a whole benefit. Therefore, the rejoicing will be wholehearted and sincere. As Dr. P. F. Bresee, the late founder of the church, so aptly put it in one of his poetical, yet strong prayers: "Oh, Lord, we praise Thee that we have been lifted out of the pit. Thank God, our feet are upon the rock. A new song has been put into our mouth, even praise to God, and we are turning up the way, shouting the praises of the Lamb that was slain."

A gentleman now steps forward to explain that the parting of the waters of the Jordan River in Biblical times was due to a dam created by an earthquake. Wow! That's the signal for the exponents of every religion to eat him alive. With due deference to the Baron, we ask "Vas you der Sharlie."

A woman in Jacksonville, Fla., employed an original but slightly costly way of ending it all. She took a rented airplane with four hours of fuel and flew straight out over the Atlantic until the fuel ran out. According to a note she left she intended to do a complete job of disappearing and fruitless searching seems to indicate that she did just that. Not even any wreckage of the airplane has been found. Airport attendants are of the opinion that she dove into the ocean from a great altitude. She had arranged for the replacement of the plane before hand.

A pair of country boys tried to city slick a local store and took the sad but necessary route to the penitentiary. When asked why they attempted to forge a check they replied that if it had worked it would have been easy money.

We were wondering if the recent shakeup in the big bugs of the Treasury was supposed to relieve the money situation. We hadn't noticed any improvement in our personal stock of same. The stock market goes up, the dollar goes down and it looks suspiciously like snow outside.

WHEN DID THE CIVIL WAR
BEGIN AND END?

(By Elmo Scott Watson)
It was on April 12, 1861, that the Confederate batteries in the harbor of Charleston, S. C., opened fire on Fort Sumter, occupied by United States troops commanded by Major Robert Anderson. And that momentous event in the administration of Abraham Lincoln, according to the idea of most Americans, marked the beginning of the Civil War. So it may seem a surprising statement to make that the war actually began during the administration of President James Buchanan, since the first shot was fired more than three months before the bombardment of Fort Sumter. Yet no less an authority than the records of the United States War Department given January 5, 1861, as the date of the opening of the war between the States.

As justification for that view of the matter, consider this chronology: South Carolina, the first southern state to leave the Union, seceded on December 20, 1860, and the state officials immediately demanded that the United States troops be withdrawn from the posts in Charleston harbor. This the government refused to do and on the night of December 26th the garrison of Fort Moultrie, commanded by Major Anderson, was transferred to Fort Sumter. On December 27 Castle Pinckney was seized by the state authorities and on December 28 they took possession of the Charleston arsenal. Buchanan failed to act in this crisis, but early in January Jeremiah Black and Edwin M. Stanton, two members of his cabinet, prevailed upon him to send reinforcements and supplies to Anderson. The merchant ship, Star of the West, appeared for this purpose in Charleston harbor on January 3, but was fired upon by batteries on Morris Island and Fort Moultrie and compelled to turn back. The vessel was under fire for ten minutes, during which time some 17 shots tore over her decks and through her rigging, only one of which, however, took effect. It was the fire of these batteries which forced the captain of the Star of the West to turn back before he could reach Fort Sumter, which the War Department considers "the opening gun of the Civil War."

For the next two months Fort Sumter was virtually in a state of siege, but there were no further hostile acts. In the meantime the Confederate State of America had been formed. On March 4, Lincoln was inaugurated President and on April 8 he gave notice that he proposed to send a supply of provisions to Fort Sumter. He thus threw upon President Jefferson Davis of the Confederacy and his cabinet the responsibility for committing an overt act which would justify calling upon the armed forces of the nation to suppress what, from the government point of view, was rebellion.

Contrary to the wishes of some of the members of his cabinet, President Davis gave orders to Gen. P. T. Beauregard, Confederate commander at Charleston, to demand the evacuation of the fort and to open fire upon it if his demand was refused. Beauregard made the demand, Anderson refused to accede to it and at four-thirty o'clock on the morning of April 12, 1861, a shell "rose high in the air, and curving in its course burst almost directly over the fort." As to actually touched off the gun which sent this shell screaming across the water, there is some dispute. The usual story is that it was done by Edmund Ruffin, "a Virginian of three-score-and-ten," who had asked for the "honor of firing the opening gun of the war" and the shot was fired from a mortar in the battery on Sullivan's island as a signal for the forts surrounding Sumter to open fire. Albert Bushnell Hart, the historian, says, however, that it was "fired from Fort Johnson by Captain George S. James" and the distinction has been claimed for various other individuals.

For 24 hours Fort Sumter was under an almost continuous bombardment which was rapidly reducing the fort to a pile of brick and stone. Then Anderson consented to evacuate and on April 14 after saluting his flag with 50 guns he marched out of the fort with colors flying and drums beating. Curiously enough not a man was killed during the bombardment, the only casualty being the death of Private Daniel Hough of Battery E of the First United States Artillery (Anderson's garrison of some 60 men) and the wounding of three others by the premature explosion of a gun during his salute to the flag before evacuation. So Fort Sumter provided the paradoxical situation of the first bloodshed in the Civil War being that of a Union soldier by a Union gun!

As for the first death resulting from a hostile shot it fell to the lot of Massachusetts men to lose their lives thus and by a curious example of "history repeating itself" this took place on April 19, 1861, just 86 years after Massachusetts men had been the first to lose their lives before the opening guns of the Revolution—at Lexington on April 19, 1775. On April 15, 1861, President Lincoln issued a proclamation calling on the governors of the states to provide 75,000 militia to "suppress the rebellion." One of the first to respond was Gov. John Andrew of Massachusetts and by noon of April 17 the Sixth Massachusetts regiment had assembled at the statehouse in Boston, received their regimental colors and that afternoon entrained for Washington. While passing thru Baltimore the regiment was attacked by a mob and returned the fire of the rioters. In the melee that followed eight of the rioters, one "innocent bystander" and two soldiers were killed outright and three members of the mob and 25 soldiers were wounded, one of the latter so seriously that he died soon afterwards. The three Massachusetts men who lost their lives in the first armed conflict of the Civil War were Sumner H. Needham and Lawrence and Addison O. Whitney and Luther C. Ladd of Lowell.

Unlike most other wars in which the United States has engaged there was no formal declaration of war as a prelude to hostilities. During the month of April, 1861, the North sprang to arms to put down a rebellion; the South rallied under a new flag to defend the right of its states to secede the Union. The mustering of these armed forces was leading inevitably to a state of war, whether there was a formal declaration or not, but until June 1 there was no actual field battles. At Manassas Junction, 30 miles from Washington, a Confederate force of about 23,000 men under Gen. P. T. Beauregard was facing a Union force of some 30,000 under Gen. Irvin McDowell. Although the battle at Manassas or Bull Run is usually looked upon as the first field action of the Civil War, that distinction belongs to another Virginia town and to a date some 50 days earlier than Bull Run.

On June 1 Company 8 of the Second United States cavalry had a skirmish with an outpost of Beauregard's army at Fairfax Court House and in this affair John O. Marr, captain of the Warrenton Rifles, Confederate outfit, was giving him the distinction of being the first soldier to be killed in action in the Civil War. The first pitched battle of the Civil War was fought two days later in another part of Virginia, now West Virginia. That was the battle of Philippi on June 3, 1861.

Recently a movement has been started to commemorate this battle as the first important engagement from a strategic standpoint in the War Between the States and it has been proposed to create a public park there as a memorial to the battle. The War Department has made a study of this battle and recently issued a report on it. The report in part follows:

"The drive on Philippi occurred at twilight of the morning of June 3, 1861. The Confederates had been at Grafton engaged in destroying bridges and rail facilities, and in organizing volunteer units. General McClellan, realizing the importance of removing them, ordered concerted action by the Ohio and Indiana forces which proceeded to Grafton, forced retirement of the Confederates to Philippi, restored the bridges and then laid plans for the attack."

"By carefully devised plans one force was sent west toward Clarksburg, and another was sent east, evidently for an attack of Harper's Ferry. The troops left their trains, however, and advanced during the night upon Philippi from two different directions. A drenching rain made travel difficult, but nevertheless cloaked their advance in greater secrecy against the raw Confederate recruits who had not learned picket duty."

"At twilight, just as the Confederates were preparing to retreat further south, the two Federal units came down upon them from surrounding hills. Because of an alleged treacherous guide, Colonel Kelley's troops, approaching from the west, had been misled and the plan of his units to prevent the retreat of the Confederates and capture them was unsuccessful. "The Confederates, constituting 1,500 Virginians, one-third of whom were mounted, fled toward Beverly in Randolph county, and the Federals, fatigued by their long night march, were unable to pursue them."

From that time on until the middle of July there were a number of other skirmishes and minor engagements until the cry of "On to Richmond!" forced Lincoln to give the order to McDowell to advance. The result was the Battle of Bull Run on July 21, the first battle on a large scale and one of the worst defeats which the Union arms was to experience during the whole war. It ended in the complete rout of McDowell's army with a loss of 2,952 killed, wounded and missing as against the Confederate loss of 1,752.

Disastrous as was the defeat it served the useful purpose of showing the North what a stern task lay ahead and that fact was fully demonstrated during the next four years until the greater man power and superior resources of the North brought about the defeat of the South. As for the question of when the Civil War ended, that is as difficult to answer as is the one about the beginning of the war. It depends largely upon the definition and interpretation of the word "ended." The usual view is that it came to a close on April 9, 1865, when Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox.

But even though the surrender marked the doom of the Confederacy hopes there were still armed southern forces in the field after April 9 and it was not until more than a month later that the last of them laid down their arms. Down in North Carolina Gen. Joseph E. Johnston was still resisting the advance of General Sherman and Union cavalry was operating in Georgia in an attempt to capture the leaders of the Confederate government. On April 17 occurred an important surrender when Gen. John C. Mosby, the dashing Confederate leader, gave in to the forces of the Union general, W. S. Hancock, and nine days later the last strong southern army gave up the struggle when Johnston surrendered to Sherman. On May 10 President Jefferson Davis was captured by General Wilson's cavalrymen and in this incident the Confederate States of America ceased to exist.

But even though Lee had surrendered a force of 26,000 men on April 9, it cannot fairly be said that the war was over so long as more than 75,000 Confederates were still under arms. And that was exactly the case on that historic date. In other parts of the South there were armies of men in gray still in the field, but the news of Appomattox and the fall of Richmond was the handwriting on the wall for them. On April 26 General Johnston and his force of 29,924 surrendered to General Sherman; on May 4 General Taylor's army of 10,000 laid down its arms; on May 10 the surrender of Gen. Sam Jones' army of 8,000 was received by detachments of General Wilson's cavalry; and the following day out at Chalk Bluff, Ark., the Union general, Dodge, received the surrender of Gen. Jeff Thompson's force of 7,454. By this time only one important force remained, an army of 20,000 led by Gen. E. Kirby Smith in Texas, and on May 26 they handed over their arms to Gen. E. R. Canby.

As for the first battle of the Civil War the record books show that distinction belongs to the assault on Fort Blakeley, Alabama, on April 9, where 113 Union soldiers were killed and 516 wounded, a total of 629. The loss to the Confederates in killed, wounded and taken prisoner was 2,900.

As in the case of many other wars, there have been numerous claimants for the title of "the man who fired the last shot" and it is doubtful if that can ever be satisfactorily decided. But, according to a marker erected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy near the White Sulphur springs at Waynesville, N. C., the last skirmish under regular command during the Civil War took place there on May 6, 1865, and the "last shot" was fired by Capt. Robert Conley in the regiment commanded by Col. James R. Love, which was retreating before the advance of a Union force commanded by Col. L. C. Bartlett. During a skirmish a Union soldier named James Arrowood was mortally wounded by a bullet from Captain Conley's gun and died afterwards. Arrowood is buried in the Union section of Riverview cemetery at Asheville, N. C., and his musket is still in the possession of Captain Conley's descendants.

MORLEY NEWS

Mr. Ollie Stone of Tulu, Ky., is visiting at the E. G. Andrew's home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Stallings of Dallas, Texas, are expected to arrive here Friday for a week end visit with the former's brother, C. A. Stallings and family.

The Morley candidates for baptism will be baptized at the close of the evening services Sunday evening at the Oran Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Riley and Miss Elsie Riley of Rorfeldt spent Sunday at the E. G. Andrew's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lee and children of Sikeston were guests of Mrs. J. W. Payton and Miss Gertrude Payton, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bugg and daughter, Mildred, spent the week end at Clinton, Ky., visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carter are the parents of a new daughter who arrived Saturday morning. This is their third child and second daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Leslie and Mrs. Anna Lucky came down from from Fredericktown Sunday morning to spend the day with Mrs. Lottie Leslie, going to Charleston in the afternoon to visit Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vaughn and family moved Monday to the place east of town owned by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Taylor but recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. M. Brashers.

G. D. Harris was a dinner guest of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Harris of McMullen, Tuesday. Rev. Harris has recently moved to McMullen.

Mrs. Maud Daugherty and son, Will, of Shawneetown and Miss Maxine Daugherty of Benton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Watson. Miss Sarah Daugherty accompanied her mother home for a short visit.

Bugs Mize suffered another light stroke of paralysis Monday and was unable to move one side or talk for some time but is a little bit improved.

Mrs. Lizzie Margrave returned home Friday after a visit in St. Louis.

Mrs. G. D. Harris and daughter, Peggy Lou accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Norval Worth to Portageville, Friday, to visit relatives. The Methodist Missionary ladies will sponsor a rummage sale each

Saturday at the Black Bros. Store beginning Saturday of this week.

Mrs. Mary Ragains was pleasantly surprised Sunday when her children arrived to help her celebrate her 82nd birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Little. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Verbeine and son, Bill, of Vienna, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. James Green and son, Champ, of White-water, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Ragains and daughter Thelma, of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Ragains and family of Morley. Each one wished for her many more happy birthdays.

Mrs. Vernon Laval was a guest of her brother, Maurice Bugg, in Cape Girardeau Monday evening, while Mr. Laval attended National Guard.

The M. E. Missionary Society gave an open meeting at the church with a special program on Foreign Missions last Wednesday night.

Red Cross Drives Claimed Successful

According to John A. Young, Scott County Chairman of the American Red Cross, the drive being put on in this city with the cooperation of the various workers, has been an unusually successful one so far, and quite a number of the subscriptions have not as yet been turned in. Several of the organizations solicited in the city have responded with one hundred per cent cooperation among which are the high school, solicited by Miss Electa O'Hara, the grade school solicited by Miss Maud Herring, and the Lions Club, solicited by E. F. Schorle and M. M. Beck. Following is a survey of the results of the drive to date:

Ward No. 1, Mrs. Lacy Allard and Mrs. Steve Humphreys, solicitors.
 $1.00—W. L. Waggener, Mrs. Geo. Donnell, Mrs. C. S. Tanner, Mrs. W. H. Keller, Mrs. H. J. Welsh, Mrs. Joe Bowman, Mrs. A. J. Renner, Mrs. J. N. Ross, Mrs. Kate L. Cook, Mrs. R. C. Matthews, Mrs. Kate Greer, Mrs. L. E. Allard, Mrs. J. L. Tanner, Mrs. H. L. Hart, Mrs. S. E. Humphreys.

The Charlestonians have gained 1566 yards in scrimmage to 1164 yards for their opponents. Likewise, the Jays have lost more, being thrown for losses totaling 308 yards to the 129 yards for their opponents.

Charleston's aerial attack has failed to click in all but one game, the one against Central when they completed 7 out of 14 attempts. Their record for the nine games played is 49 attempted 14 of which were completed for 183 yards. The Jays have intercepted 10 enemy passes. The Blue Jay opponents have attempted 49, completed 18 for 219 yards and have intercepted 8 Jay tosses.

Charleston has punted 70 times for 2147 yards, an average of 30 47-79 yards per kick. Of these, Tom Bynum has punted 63 times for 1944 yards, an average of 30 54-63 yards per boot. Sam Scott has punted 7 times for 203 yards, an average of 29 yards. Their opponents have kicked 63 times for 1800 yards, an average of 28 4-7 yards per kick.

The Jays have registered 76 first downs to 69 for their opponents.

Charleston has fumbled 27 times to 18 for their opponents. The Jays have recovered 28 fumbles to 17 for their opponents.

Charleston has also been penalized more than the teams they have played, having lost 260 yards due to infringement of the rules while the other teams have lost 215 yards due to the same cause.

The Jays have one more game to play the Turkey Day tilt with Sikeston, there. Last season, the Bulldogs won the game Thanksgiving Day and the Sikeston fans got so enthusiastic that they took the goal posts down from the Charleston gridiron. Charleston fans, according to rumor, are out to get revenge this year as the game is to be played at Sikeston, and the Charleston team is rated stronger than the Sikestonians.

Co-captain and quarterback, Sam Cox Goodin, will probably be in the game against Sikeston. He was injured in the Jackson fray, and was out of the game against Poplar Bluff yesterday. His knee is healing rapidly and he will probably be in shape for the game.

EMORY MATTHEWS TO PINE BLUFF, ARKANSAS

Emory Matthews, who has been in charge of the Bragg City district as farm manager for the Mosie Farms, has been transferred to Pine Bluff, Ark., where he will this week take charge of the Pine Bluff office of the land and farm division of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co. Other changes in the farm managers working out of Kennett office have been made. Mr. Matthews has many friends in Kennett and throughout this section who congratulate him on his promotion.—Kennett Democrat.

Mrs. Gord Dill will receive free one package of Swans Down Biscuit Mix if she will call at The Standard office for same.

CANCER NOT INHERITED

After experiments with 52,000 rats, during a period of 12 years, the Institute of Cancer Research announces the definite conclusion that cancer is never inherited. An announcement by the Institute says:

"Cancer is a terrible disease, not only because it brings pain and death, but also because it inspires an immense amount of worry in a great many people who are never going to suffer from it physically."

"It is the people who have seen cancer attack some member of their family who worry the most and without cause. It appears from the research done that cancer doesn't start unless there is an irritation present. The germ cells which are inherited from parents do not carry the liability to cancer."

"The main benefit derived from the study is that it removes the fatalistic attitude developed toward the disease. It is that attitude which keeps many persons away from the doctor during the early stages of the cancer growth, when through an early examination and treatment a life might be saved."

A very enthusiastic sales conference was sponsored in A. E. Shankle's Singer Shop, Friday from 6 to 9 P. M., by C. E. Funeral services were conducted Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock with H. G. Oliver of Matthews in charge. Interment was made by Welch Funeral service in the Memorial Park Cemetery here.

DISTRICT BASKETBALL TOURNAMENTS DROPPED

In a drastic rule change the Missouri State High School Athletic Association has announced that district and subdistrict basketball tournaments will not be considered in the selection of teams to compete in the State Tournament next spring. The State Tournament will be held March 9 and 10.

Sixteen contestants will be chosen by the board of control on a basis of their season's record of conference and invitational meets. The change was made because of the lack of uniformity in conducting the meets, difficulty of class division and economy.

Plans for the district meet which will be held at Cape Girardeau have not been completed but it is thought that it will be held about the same time as the state meet.

Mayor Gives Reasons for Refusal to Sign New Election Ordinance

To the City Council, Sikeston, Missouri: Gentlemen:

On November 6th, 1933, your Honorable body passed an ordinance styled as follows:

"An Ordinance providing for methods and procedure for nominating candidates for Public Office within and for the City of Sikeston, Missouri."

I am returning this ordinance without my approval, but with my objections, which are as follows:

First: This ordinance puts the management of the City and the election of its officers into party politics. I do not feel that our local city affairs should be managed in this way. To my way of thinking, politics has no place in the handling of our local matters. I can see no reason why the minority party in a small city like ours, who pay their taxes like the majority party, should be deprived of having any representation at all in the management of the affairs of the city. I have been connected with the administration of the city for more than twenty years and during those years the city has been run without party tickets or partisan politics. This is the first proposition of a purely political nature with which the City Officers have been confronted. I think we have made progress and have done reasonably well and have been able to get along peacefully without the injection of partisan politics. Consequently, I feel that I cannot give this bill my approval.

Second: I further object to this bill because it requires an additional city election, which is to be held and paid for out of the Treasury of the City, as provided by Section 10 of the bill. This will be an additional expense to the City. It is true the ordinance provides for the payment of a fee by each candidate to help out in the payment of this expense, but this provision is not adequate to take care of this expense. The approximate expense of such a primary election will be about $150.00. For the fees of the candidates to meet this outlay would require forty or fifty candidates. It is evident that a large portion of the expense of this primary election would fall upon the City Treasury and upon the tax payers. For this further reason, I do not feel that this bill should receive my approval.

Third: I further object to this bill because Section 12 provides that the County Central Committee of the political party on whose ticket a vacancy may appear is authorized to fill the vacancy or vacancies on the ticket. The County Central Committee of each political party is composed of sixteen members. It would not be possible for more than two of these members to live in the City of Sikeston. I do not approve of any committee, who are not residents of the City of Sikeston, having authority to say who shall be placed on any ticket for a local city office. I think this authority should be kept in the city. I think the City of Sikeston ought to be run by the citizens of Sikeston.

Fourth: I further object to this bill because Section 15 thereof provides that the Township Committee of each party may appoint two party agents or representatives, with alternates, who may represent their party in the polling place in each ward during the election and act as challengers and witnesses to the count of the votes of the respective parties. The Township Committee who makes these appointments may not live in the City of Sikeston at all, and the men he appoints as party agents or challengers may not live in the City of Sikeston at all under the provisions of this ordinance. I do not think someone who does not live in the city should be able to appoint party agents or challengers, who may not live in the city, to supervise a City Election held in the City of Sikeston. I think the citizens of Sikeston should take care of their own elections. The operation of Section 12 and Section 15 of this bill, wherein people who do not live in Sikeston would be given authority to fill out Sikeston city tickets and supervise Sikeston city elections, would not set well with Sikeston people, and out of this situation would likely grow much dissatisfaction and disturbance. I believe the people of the City of Sikeston can get out their own candidates and handle their own elections without outside interference or assistance.

Fifth: I further object to this bill because it requires each candidate who expects to run for office at any April election to announce himself in writing and by declaration in the early days of February preceding. In other words, no candidate can run for any office under this ordinance unless he declares himself in writing at least sixty days before the election. This would deprive any candidate from running for office, who might make up his mind to do so within sixty days of the election and would deprive the people themselves from getting a candidate on the ticket, if they so desired, unless they would do so sixty days before the April election. I think this matter should be left open as it has been and now is so that any man or woman who desires to run for any office may do so without being compelled to declare them selves so far ahead of the election.

Sixth: I further object to this bill because Section 20 provides punishment for any person violating this ordinance up to a fine of $500.00 or imprisonment in the city jail for a term up to six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. As I understand it this city is not permitted by law to assess a fine of more than $100.00 or a term of imprisonment for more than three months. For the reasons herein given, I respectfully return this ordinance to the City Council without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,
N. E. FUCHS, Mayor.
To the City Council, Sikeston, Missouri:

Gentlemen:

On November 6th, 1933, your Honorable body passed an ordinance styled as follows:

"An ordinance providing for the form of ballot hereafter to be used in City Elections, other than Special Elections, in the City of Sikeston, Missouri."

I am returning this ordinance without my approval. Since I am at this time returning to the Council.

"An ordinance providing for methods and procedure for nominating candidates for Public Office within and for the City of Sikeston, Missouri," without any approval, and with my objections, it naturally follows that I must return this ordinance without my approval, and my objections for not approving this ordinance are the same as those set out as grounds for my disapproval of the other ordinance.

Respectfully submitted,
N. E. FUCHS, Mayor.

The reasons given in Mayor Fuchs refusal to approve the ordinance called for a primary election are not borne out by the Statutes of the State of Missouri as the following extracts are quoted from the statutes:

In Sec. 6721 R. S. Mo. 1929, it is provided in part that "All city elections shall be held under the provisions of the general election laws of the state: Provided, that all certificates of nomination and petitions therefor, as provided by the state election laws, shall be filed with the city clerk and not with any other officer, and all duties specified to be performed by the constable or sheriff in the state election laws shall be performed by the marshal in city elections; and all tickets for city elections shall be printed by the city and at the city's expense; and all duties heretofore performed by the city clerk with reference to city elections shall be performed by the city clerk," etc., etc.

Third objection. (This relates to the filling of vacancies which may occur between the date of the primary and the date of the election.)

It is provided in Sec. 10268 R. S. 1929 that "Vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary or where no person shall offer himself as a candidate before such primary, shall be filled by the party committee of the district, county, or state, as the case may be: Provided, however, that no name shall be allowed on any ticket until the required fee shall have been paid."

Section 12 of the ordinance is a verbatim restatement of this statute.

But this is not the only way that the name of a candidate can be placed on the ticket after the primary. A candidate can be nominated by a petition of electors resident within the district or political division for which the candidate is presented, to a number equal to 2 per cent of the entire vote cast at the last preceding election. Nomination in this way is authorized in Section 10241 R. S. 1929, and the procedure is set out in great detail in the following sections.

Fourth objection: (This relates to the appointment of challengers and witnesses at primary elections.)

Sec. 10270 R. S. 1929 provides that, "The county, ward or township committee of each party in each county, may appoint two party agents or representatives, with alternates for each, who may represent his party at the polling place in each precinct during the casting, canvass and return of the vote at a primary, who shall act as challengers and witnesses to the count of the vote for their respective parties, and have the power prescribed by law."

Section 15 of the ordinance merely restates this statute. The ordinance does not add to or take anything away from the power of the township committee. He is given the power to appoint challengers and witnesses by state law.

Sixth objection. (Relating to the punishment for violations.)

It is provided in Sec. 10291 R. S. 1929 as follows: "Any person violating any of the provisions or requirements of this article for which no other or different punishment is prescribed shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $500.00, or by imprisonment in the county or city jail for a term not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

Section 20 of the ordinance is a verbatim restatement of this statute.

NOTICE TO LAND OWNERS OF THE LITTLE RIVER DRAINAGE DISTRICT

You are hereby notified that the meeting of all owners of land within the Little River Drainage District and all persons interested in any of said lands will be held at 9:30 o'clock in the morning of Monday, the twenty-seventh day of November, 1933, in the school gymnasium building in the City of Morehouse, in the County of New Madrid, State of Missouri, for the purpose of electing one member of the Board of Supervisors of the Little River Drainage District and to transact and attend to all other business or other matters that may properly come before said meeting. The polls will be open until 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon of said day and each owner of land is entitled to one vote for each and every acre of land owned by him in the district on which a benefit has been assessed.

All proxies and powers of attorney must be in writing and signed by the owner or owners of the land.

APPROXIMATELY 225 ROAD PROJECTS LISTED UNDER FEDERAL ALLOTMENT

Jefferson City, Nov. 17.—Approximately 225 projects principally on farm-to-market roads, to be constructed from Missouri's indicated $4,000,000 allotment under the new $90,000,000 federal highway program, were listed and will be submitted to the Bureau of Public Roads at Washington for approval within the next two days, Scott Wilson, chairman of the State Highway Commission, said after attending a meeting of the Commission with its bureau chiefs and division engineers held here.

The new program will put 15,000 unemployed men to work. This means that approximately 40,000 men will be engaged in highway activity this winter, and that hundreds of miles of new farm-to-market roads will be added to the state system.

The meeting was called by Chief Engineer Cutler upon receipt of a telegram, Monday, from T. H. McDonald, Chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, in which he called attention to the new allotment. Division engineers were instructed to come to this meeting prepared to submit at least two projects in each county upon which construction could be started immediately, and to suggest additional projects, with due regard to relief needs and value to the highway system. The new program is designed as a direct relief measure, and, under tentative rules, 65 per cent of the money expended must go directly for labor. Project requirements, as received to date, are rather broad and permit widening, grading, clearing of right-of-way, general maintenance, construction and almost any type of work which will require few materials and much labor.

It is estimated that approximately 600 projects, including rebuilding and other work, principally on farm-to-market roads, will be placed in actual construction within six weeks.

John Boles has a brand new mother. She is the beautiful Irene Browne, who created the role of "Margaret Harris" in the original stage production of "Cavalcade" for Dec. 20. The cases against George Krone, president of the bank, and H. G. Wilson, president of the school board, were continued until the February term of the court.

The cases against Cashier W. H. Hutchins and Miss Myrtle Johnson, bookkeeper of the bank, jointly accused with Hutchins, were set for Dec. 20. The cases against George Krone, president of the bank, and H. G. Wilson, president of the school board, were continued until the February term of the court.

TAX LOOPHOLE TO GET CLOSED; CHANGES AHEAD

Washington, Nov. 21.—Revision of federal revenue laws may call upon wealthy individuals and corporations to pay $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 additional income taxes annually without an increase in rates.

The plan already formulated by a House ways and means subcommittee, contemplates wiping out many modifications made since 1920 in the administrative features of the income tax law.

Many exemptions now allowed both individuals and corporations may be entirely eliminated. Whether corporations shall be allowed to continue to file consolidated returns is just one question the subcommittee plans to submit to the full group at hearings beginning December 4th.

Reductions in the present 50 per cent allowance for depreciation and the limitation of amounts allowed for depletion also are to be reported on them.

The sub-committee, headed by Rep. Sam Hill, Democrat of Washington, today turned over to tax experts of the joint congressional internal revenue committee the findings of its weeks of study. These are to be put in a concise report for the full committee.

In its study, the sub-committee found constitutional questions and rulings of the court blocked many proposals to strengthen the income tax law. However, Hill predicted that if the sub-committee's recommendations are enacted by Congress, "between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 can be raised without an increase in rates."

Hill said every effort would be made to make individuals and corporations pay income taxes "on all actual gains," and that losses reported would have to be deducted from incomes in the same year.

Some revision of the capital gains and loss provision, he said, was contemplated. There had been some suggestion that it be abolished, he added.

In addition, Hill explained, it had been suggested that a 25 per cent levy be imposed on personal holding companies.

In the Probate Court.
John G. Powell, Executor of W. W. Scott, deceased.

Order of Publication

To Mildred Creel, Dewey Scott, Estell Scott, Lois Scott, Charles Scott, Irene Grice, Henry Scott and Rudlee Grice, heirs of W. W. Scott, deceased.

You are hereby notified, that John G. Powell, Executor of W. W. Scott, deceased, presents to the Court his petition praying for an order for the sale of so much of the real estate of said deceased as will pay and satisfy the remaining debts due by said estate, and yet unpaid for want of sufficient assets, accompanied by the accounts, lists and inventories required by law in such case. On examination whereof it is ordered that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, be notified that application as aforesaid has been made, and unless the contrary be shown on or before the 8th day of January, 1934, and during the November Term, 1933, next, an order will be made for the sale of the whole, or so much of the real estate of said deceased as will be sufficient for the payment of said debts; and it is further ordered, that this notice be published in some newspaper in this County, for four weeks before the 8th day of January, 1934, the day set by the Court for the hearing of said petition.

Witness my hand as Judge of our said Court and the seal thereof.

Done at office in Benton, in the County aforesaid on the 20th day of November, A. D. 1933.

O. L. SPENCER,
Judge of Probate.

Nov. 24-Dec. 1-8-15.
